Turkey Sounds Warning in Balkan Crisis

PLEDGES FIGHT AGAINST THREAT TO ITS SECURITY

Bulgarian Police Hunt Anti-Nazis.

ANKARA, Turkey, Feb. 23 (AP).—Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu of Turkey declared tonight "Turkey would be unable to remain indifferent to foreign activities which might occur in her security zone."

Sukru Saracoglu.

"Turkey will oppose with force any and all aggression which might be directed against her territorial integrity or her independence," Saracoglu said.

His statement apparently referred to the German army's expected occupation of Bulgaria.

Diplomatic quarters expressed the belief that the statement was prompted by the fact that Bulgaria has been interpreting the six day old Turkish-Bulgarian nonaggression accord as meaning that Turkey was indifferent to a Nazi march into Bulgaria so long as Turkey's frontiers were not violated.

Turks See British Attacks.

The Saracoglu statement coincided with reports reaching here that the German army had begun filtering into Bulgaria. Turkey always has considered a neutral Bulgaria as part of her own security zone.

The Turkish press devoted its attention to reported British plans to aid Greece when and if the Nazis march thru Bulgaria toward eastern Thrace.

The Istanbul newspaper Ikdam, with close official connections, said Britain "seems to favor a plan of attacking in the Mediterranean even before Germany does" and that it is possible, therefore, for a strong British army "soon to go to Salonika or attempt an invasion of Sicily."

Halt Auto Traffic in Sofia.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 23 (AP).—Police halted all automobile traffic in the Sofia district early this afternoon and began a nation-wide hunt for Bulgarians spreading anti-German leaflets. These were among accumulating signs of impending Nazi military entrance into this country.

There was no explanation for the orders to clear the highways. Bulgarian military transports were reported on the move but the necessity for a police permit for even a short trip outside the Sofia city limits prevented first hand investigation.

Seven top leaders of the Peasant party, including Stancho Trifanov, former assistant police chief in Sofia, were arrested. The anti-German leaflets called on the peasants to resist any Nazi occupation.

Prepare for Blackout.

The capital was ordered to be ready for a blackout at a moment's notice, beginning Tuesday. Border regions, including the area along the Danube facing the Rumanian shore where Nazi troops are massed, were forbidden to foreigners.

German diplomats staged a movie showing in Sofia's largest theater of the Nazi triumph on the western front—the same type of film whose showing in Norway, Holland, and Belgium preceded the entry of German troops by only a few days. Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Philov and many members of his cabinet attended.

Reports from Hungary said German troops still were continuing the movement begun last Dec. 27 across that country into Rumania, just across the Danube river from Bulgaria. These reports said 45 German pursuit planes were based on Hungarian airports near the railway lines, presumably to protect the movement which is reported to have maintained an average of about 40 military trains a day.

Calls Red Army "Mighty Power."

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (AP).—Marshal Semeon K. Timoshenko, commissar for defense, today proclaimed that the Red army had "grown into a mighty power" and called upon his troops to be "vigilant" in an order of the day issued in connection with the 23d anniversary of the creation of the soviet armed forces.

ITALY WILL WIN WITH NAZI HELP, SAYS MUSSOLINI

Denies Axis Plans to Invade U. S.

ROME, Feb. 23 (AP).—Premier Benito Mussolini, in an unheralded broadcast to the Italian people, defended today the Fascist régime's handling of the Libyan campaign, announced the arrival of German air and armored detachments in Sicily and Libya, and declared that "Italy, whatever happens, will march with Germany to the end . . . with certainty of victory."

Benito Mussolini.

He promised a new Italian offensive against the Greeks, scoffed at United States fears of an axis invasion of America, and assailed what he called the small minority of Italian "weepers, grumblers and snakes" left over from the Masonic lodges.

Mussolini declared America's industries never will be able to give Britain superiority over Germany and denounced as a lie "that the Axis powers want to attack America after Britain. Neither in Rome nor Berlin are fantastic projects of that kind held."

Il Duce spoke for 45 minutes, his first address to the nation since Nov. 18, nearly a month before the British offensive opened in North Africa.

Reveals Effort in Libya.

In defending his regime against charges abroad that there had been a lack of preparations for the Libyan campaign, Mussolini gave for the first time a sharp idea of the men and supplies sent to Libya for what the Italians had expected would be an advance on Egypt and seizure of the Nile and Suez.

He said 14,000 officers and 396,358 soldiers of two army corps—the 5th and the 10th—including 10 divisions of Italians and Libyans, had made up the Italian forces. There were 1,924 cannon of all sizes, many of the most recent model; 15,386 machine guns, 11,000,000 rounds of shells, 1,344,287,275 rounds of small arms ammunition, 127,877 tons of other materials, 779 tanks, some of them heavy; 9,584 trucks, and 4,809 motorcycles.

Entire Army Lost.

"These figures show that an effort which may be called imposing was dedicated to the defense of Libya," Mussolini shouted.

He said the Italians had lost one entire army, the 10th, which "was almost entirely overwhelmed in men and guns. The fifth air squadron was almost literally sacrificed."

[The British have claimed over 100,000 prisoners in the Libyan campaign and numerous guns, tanks, and trucks.]

He explained the Italian defeat in Africa by saying the British jumped "five to ten days" before the Italians expected to start their own offensive, and offered a similar explanation for Italy's delayed entrance into the war last June. Italy, he declared, would have been in the war from the beginning had she been ready.

Defense preparations in East Africa, Mussolini said, have been "imposing."

Conceding that the Italians have been having "gray days" in Africa, he declared that "happens in every war."

U. S. Aid Held Inadequate.

Mussolini referred twice to the United States. The first time he said:

"England is alone. This isolation pushes her toward the United States, from which she desperately and urgently invokes aid. The industrial power of the United States is certainly great, but for it to be felt supplies must reach England safely and must be in quantities not only to compensate for the destruction wrought, and to be wrought, on the industrial plants of Britain, but to give superiority over Germany, which is impossible because men, machines, and raw materials of the entire European continent are now working with Germany."

The second reference to the United States was this:

"Let me say that what is happening in the United States is one of

THE HANDS OF ONE MAN OR THE HANDS OF MILLIONS

Co-Discoverer of Insulin Is Lost in Plane

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 23 (AP).—Dr. Sir Frederick Banting, Nobel prize winner for sharing with D. J. R. MacLeod in the discovery of insulin, was missing tonight with three other persons in a military airplane being delivered by a civilian organization. An announcement said the plane disappeared Friday morning while flying in favorable weather conditions. It was feared the plane might have come down in the sea off the east coast or on land remote from means of communication.

Dr. Sir Frederick Banting.

Just where the craft had taken off or where it was going was not announced. Those aboard the plane, in addition to Dr. Banting, were:

Capt. Joseph Creighton Mackey, 31 years old, of Kansas City.

William Snailham of Bedford, Nova Scotia.

Widespread Search Conducted.

The announcement said "an intensive and widespread search was commenced immediately and is still in progress." It gave no other details.

Dr. Banting enlisted at the start of the present war as a captain in the 15th general hospital, Canadian army medical corps.

He also served in the world war as a private in the field ambulance service and later became a lieutenant in the medical corps. He was wounded at Cambrai, where he won the military cross.

Dr. Banting gave much credit for the discovery of insulin in 1922 to Charles Herbert Best of the University of Toronto. When he and Dr. MacLeod were awarded the Nobel prize in 1923, Dr. Banting immediately said he would share his award of $5,600 with Dr. Best. He thought it an injustice that the Nobel prize committee had not given equal recognition to Dr. Best.

How It Works.

Insulin is the hormone secreted by certain cells of the pancreas which enables the body to utilize carbohydrates. When diabetes is present, there is a deficiency of this hormone and hypodermic injections of it are necessary. It is taken from the pancreas of slaughterhouse animals.

The Canadian government granted Dr. Banting an annuity of $7,500 to enable him to pursue an interrupted program of research, as medical men hailed his discovery as the greatest since those of Pasteur. Dr. Banting in 1938 also received recognition for work on cancer.

SPAIN'S FORMER KING RALLIES; HEARS DUCE SPEAK; CRACKS JOKE

ROME, Feb. 23 (AP).—Former King Alfonso XIII. of Spain, who last night had been given little chance to live until dawn, still was propped up in an arm chair tonight in his hotel room after having listened to a broadcast by Premier Benito Mussolini. His condition at midnight was described as "stationary."

His weakness and the condition of his heart were such that, in spite of his rally, his physicians still did not dare move him to his bed, but Alfonso chided those who had despaired of his life.

To a Spanish nun who gave the alarm last night when the last sacraments of the church were administered, Alfonso jokingly said, "You wanted me to die last night but, as you see, I am still up."

CAPITAL POLICE SEIZE EFFIGY OF WOMAN WRITER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Police seized an effigy of Dorothy Thompson, a newspaper columnist, from a group of women picketing the White House today after the leader of the group had sought to hang it on the gate of the east entrance.

The women said they were members of the Mothers' Crusade to kill house resolution 1776 [the dictator bill]. The leader, Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling of Chicago, said she wanted to give "Dorothy to the White House for a present because she wants to give away a million of our boys."

The effigy bore this placard:

Eleanor R.,
Dotty Thompson, too,
With the greedy Sol Bloom
And the Hillman crew
Are shouting for war
To spend again
A million boys' lives
In blood and pain.

The parading women carried American flags.

3 Girls, 1 Boy Born to Farm Wife in 4 Hrs.

Leitchfield, Ky., Feb. 23 (AP).—Mrs. Porter Lasley, 42 years old, a farm wife, gave birth to quadruplets today over a period of four hours. She is the mother of eight other children.

The babies—three girls and a boy, weighing an aggregate of 18 pounds and ¾ of an ounce—are to be removed to a Louisville hospital. The attending physician, Dr. John C. Tucker, said the quartet all was "very good except the boy. The mother is getting along nicely."

"They're good looking children and I hope the Lord will let us keep them and care for them," said the mother.

Father Calls It Lucky Omen.

Said the astonished 44 year old father:

"Nothing like this ever happened before. My wife's grandmother had twins once—but that's the only record of anything different. Well, I guess this means my luck is going to look up." [He is recovering from a leg fracture suffered several months ago, and a daughter, Ruth, 10, recently broke an arm.]

The first child—Beulah, weight five pounds—arrived unexpectedly at 8:30 a. m. without benefit of medical attention. Dr. Tucker didn't reach the Lasley farm, two miles west of here, until 30 minutes later. Only Ruth was present at the time. Mrs. Lasley said she hadn't expected the event until April.

Along Came Mildred.

At 10:30, Mildred, weight 4 pounds, was born. Then came John, weight 5 pounds ¾ of an ounce, at 12:15 p. m. Fifteen minutes later the fourth child, Martine, weight 4 pounds, arrived.

The boy was named for the doctor; Martine for the nurse, Mrs. Richard Lowrey, and Beulah for the mother.

The three girls were wrapped in shawls and blankets surrounded by hot water bottles, but little John had to be placed in an incubator.

Father Lasley arrived home from church with seven of his eight children [they range in age from 3 to 23] after Beulah was born. Quickly he got into action and word about the quads got around the neighborhood after Lasley began appealing for a "wash basket to hold four babies and four hot water bottles." Assistance soon engulfed the Lasley household.

SENATOR TELLS DANGER IN DICTATOR MEASURE

CITES PARALLEL WITH EUROPEAN GRABS OF POWER

A parallel between the rise of dictatorships in Italy and Germany and the present trend in America was drawn yesterday by Senator Wayland Brooks in his radio address attacking President Roosevelt's war dictatorship bill.

It was the second time Senator Brooks has used parallel illustrations in his fight against the bill. In his maiden speech Friday in the senate he denounced the measure and drew parallels between the glamor of war and the tragedy of war and between the road America took to war in 1916 and 1917 and the road America is taking today.

The following are excerpts, tracing the rise of dictatorships, from his speech yesterday:

ITALY

"Mussolini started as a premier in 1922 and asked his parliament to give him extreme and unusual powers to face an emergency. Then he declared emergency after emergency and continued to fill the departments of government with his own appointees until by 1927 he finally informed the chamber of deputies he did not see how he could relinquish his position as dictator for 10 or 15 years. And thus we see the road that leads to dictatorship."

GERMANY

"Hitler started in January, 1933, as a chancellor, and in March of the same year, when his party had won an election by only 52 per cent of the popular vote, he appeared before the newly elected reichstag and demanded unusual powers for four years for their emergency. This finally resulted in his having all powers except the right to diminish the rights of the president or abolish the reichstag as institutions. A series of emergencies followed there also, and he appointed to the various positions of his government men of his sole selection. Thus we find the road again to permanent dictatorship."

AMERICA

"The important thing about this bill [House Resolution 1776] is that it was submitted by the President himself. It is what he wants, and in its original form as submitted, it was the greatest demand for unlimited power, for an unlimited time, that has ever been presented by any one in the history of America.

"It contained no limitation as to time, as to amount, and the wording of the act read 'Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, the President may—' and then went on to enumerate that he could sell, transfer, exchange, lease, or otherwise dispose of any defense articles to any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States. . . .

"The purpose of this bill should be warning enough to the American people that this is and will be a leap toward dictatorship."

Curb on Free Speech Is Viewed as First Blow to Rights.

The stifling of American freedom of speech will begin with passage of President Roosevelt's war dictatorship bill, Senator Wayland Brooks, Illinois Republican, warned yesterday in a nation-wide radio broadcast. He branded the bill a "broad leap toward dictatorship" and a "double-time march toward becoming involved in foreign wars."

Brooks, who returned from his fight against the bill in Washington, D. C., to continue the battle in his home state during the week-end, spoke over the Mutual network and W-G-N under auspices of the veterans' division of the Illinois America First committee.

The speech originally was planned for a debate with Senator Scott W. Lucas, Illinois Democrat, who supports the bill. Lucas refused to debate Senator Brooks. Senator Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat, who also supports the measure, was then sought as Brooks' opponent, but Pepper likewise declined.

Cites Pattern of Power.

Senator Brooks in his address dissected the bill and fitted it, provision by provision, into a pattern which he said has no precedent in the United states. He said:

"On the floor of the senate some of the administration spokesmen, determined to push this bill thru with the greatest of speed, said: 'This does not create a dictatorship; we still have freedom of the press, freedom of speech, and freedom of worship.'

"Freedom of speech is left, they say, but the minute this bill is passed I predict that some form of censorship will be adopted in America—all in the name of national defense. And that will be the beginning of the end of freedom of speech."

Elastic Scope Cited.

It should be sufficient warning to the American people, he said, that the President is asking for "these tremendous powers to be delegated to one man, and he having the authority to delegate them to any one else that he chooses."

"Any amendment put on this bill will be practically meaningless," Brooks declared, "for once the power is granted to one man and he starts to move under that power, the interpretation that may be placed upon the terms of the act by the attorney-general will no doubt be elastic indeed."

TEXT OF ADDRESS

"I am glad for the opportunity to discuss on this Sabbath day the momentous question which is now being debated in the senate of the United States. The question is shall we pass the bill which is termed by some who wish its passage, 'the lease-lend bill,' by others who fear its consequence, as 'the dictatorship bill,' but entitled by the wording of the act itself 'further to promote the defense of the United States and for other purposes.'

"This is certainly extreme legislation, and it leads to momentous conclusions which inevitably will affect the peace, the security, and the free institutions of the United States for generations to come.

"It has given many people tremendous concern and I share in that concern. I think the one difficulty is that the people haven't read and don't understand just what the bill creates.

Nation's Defenses Omitted.

"The title is 'further to promote the defense of the United States and for other purposes,' but there is not a single provision which deals with our defenses.

"The bill in its original form asks for power for the President, in his own discretion, on his own terms as he may see fit, to conduct undeclared war anywhere in the world. Power in the President's own discretion to choose our friends or choose our enemies.

"Power in the hands of the President, in his own discretion, to employ the total resources of this country to that end.

"Power in the President, in his sole discretion, to make military alliances with other governments and to lend, lease, or give to any other government, in his sole discretion, any

SENEGALESE JOIN BRITISH IN DRIVE AIMED AT KEREN

Travel by Truck and Ship to War in Eritrea.

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 23 (AP).—British imperial soldiers and travel stained French Senegalese troops who rushed at least 1,500 miles by truck to join the British column pushing into northern Eritrea made "satisfactory" progress today in the allied drive on the key railway town of Keren, it was reported tonight.

A British communique gave the first official information that a Senegalese battalion had joined the British in the northern wing of a huge pincer movement on Keren and southern Eritrea.

The battalion went from the French Equatorial African province of Chad to a Sudanese port in trucks and there was taken by ship to the Eritrean coast. It was believed the Senegalese were the first allied soldiers to land on the Eritrean shore.

Frenchman in Command.

A colonel said to have been attached to the French general staff at Vichy as late as last November commanded the battalion. British units which fought their way into Eritrea from its western frontier are besieging Keren, the principal Italian defense standing between the British and Asmara, capital of Eritrea.

Of the operations in Eritrea, the British communique said:

"Our column moving down the Red sea littoral [coastal region] from the north, reenforced by Free French forces from French Equatorial Africa, is again making satisfactory headway whilst our forces above Keren continue their preparations for the reduction of the Italian positions covering the town."

Seize Town on Blue Nile.

The official British report also said British and Ethiopian native soldiers captured the town of Shoghai, on the Blue Nile in Ethiopia, and that operations in Italian Somaliland were developing "to our advantage" after the capture of Jumbo, a town near the mouth of the Juba river.

[The ministry of information in London said that the Italians, in allowing British troops to cross the Juba river, lost the "strongest natural defense" they possessed in South Somaliland. The ministry said the latest key point of the fighting is Gelib, about 60 miles northeast of Chisimaio, Indian ocean port captured by the British.]

British planes were active on virtually all fronts. The R. A. F. reported bombing and machine gun attacks on Fascist troop concentrations in the region southwest of Brava, Italian Somaliland, and an attack on the Massaua, Eritrea, airdrome which left fires among the forts and buildings.

Nazis Claim Hits at Bengazi.

BERLIN, Feb. 23 (AP).—Informed Germans said today Nazi flyers scored a direct hit on a British monitor in the harbor at Bengazi, Libya, and damaged another vessel of about 10,000 tons as well as harbor facilities.

GOERING'S PAPER SAYS DUCE'S TALK MEANS VICTORY

BERLIN, Feb. 23 (AP).—Premier Benito Mussolini's speech today may be recognized in time as the turning point in the Mediterranean, spelling catastrophe for Britain, Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering's newspaper, the Essener National Zeitung, states.

Mussolini's speech, the newspaper said, showed an "unshakable certainty of victory."

A statement in the Frankfurter Zeitung saying the Greek war may be "blown away by spring storms" was called to the attention of newspaper men by the news service Dienst aus Deutschland, usually credited with knowing the line of official thought.

It also called attention to the "especially revealing" statement in the same newspaper that spring may "bring even higher waves of attacks" on production centers from the air, as well as on merchant ships from the sea and air.

ITALY WILL WIN WITH NAZI HELP, SAYS MUSSOLINI

Denies Axis Plans to Invade America.

the most colossal mystifications in the records of history. An illusion and a lie are at the base of American intervention, the illusion that the United States is still a democracy while in fact it is really a political, financial oligarchy dominated by Jewry thru a form of extremely personal dictatorship.

Denies Plan to Attack U. S.

"It is a lie that the axis powers want to attack America after Britain. Neither in Rome nor Berlin are fantastic projects of that kind held. Such projects could only come from an insane inclination. . . . Let Americans rest at ease and not believe that as regards them is there a big bad wolf which wishes to devour them. In any case, it is more likely that the United States would be invaded by the inhabitants of the not well known but very bellicose planet Mars, who will descend from the starry spaces upon an imaginable flying fortress, than by axis soldiers."

The words recalled to Mussolini's listeners the Orson Welles broadcast of an adaptation of H. G. Wells' "The War of the Worlds," which caused mass hysteria in October, 1938, chiefly in New Jersey. The audience roared with laughter.

The largest section of Mussolini's address was devoted to the power of Nazi Germany. This power, he asserted, did not diminish during the winter but rather increased by gigantic proportions.

Germany's human losses were held to a minimum in proportion to the effort, and losses in material were insignificant, he declared.

Axis' Efforts Common.

"May it be said for foreigners who are always ready for wicked slander that the behavior of German soldiers in Sicily and Libya is perfect in every way," he added.

"The coöperation offered by the Fuehrer of the German air and armored detachments now in the Mediterranean sea is only proof that all fronts are common [for the axis] and that the efforts are common."

The No. 1 enemy, Mussolini said, is England, which he declared is being blockaded to the point of "catastrophe." The war will end, he added, when Britain is defeated unless, at the risk of their own independence, her dominions overseas carry on. Axis morale, he said, is "infinitely better than English morale." England will soon, he asserted, "have not a friend" on the European continent.

Italy's losses in the Greek campaign, he assured his listeners, were limited to "a few thousands, mostly wounded," while the Greek losses have been "extremely high."

Italy was forced into the war with Greece, he said, because Greece would not renounce British guarantees.

As in Libya, he continued, men and arms have been sent to Albania "without reserve."

"Let it be said once for all," he roared, "that our soldiers in Albania have fought superbly. The Alpini especially have written pages of glory which would honor any army."

Italy's plan for a war on Greece was presented by the high command in Albania and was "unanimously approved without any reservations," he said.

At present, Mussolini said, Italy has about 2,000,000 men under arms, but could have 4,000,000 this year.

BRITISH CALL DUCE'S TALK A CONFESSION OF HIS 'WEAKNESS'

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—British political sources called Premier Benito Mussolini's speech today a confession of weakness and unfulfilled boasts.

The diplomatic correspondent of the Press association, British news agency, pointed to Il Duce's comparisons of Britain and Germany and contrasted them with his earlier utterances in which "Italy was supposed to regard herself not merely as an equal of Great Britain but as master over British forces in the entire Mediterranean."

"There no longer was the same boastful, bombastic claim that Mussolini's forces will be able to throw back the British beyond the Suez canal and thus add new trophies to the Italian empire," the correspondent said.

"The note struck now is that the Italian people should take comfort from the fact that German strength is so great the Nazis might be able to pull Italian chestnuts out of the fire."

BABIES AND THEN MORE BABIES, IS APPEAL TO NAZIS

BERLIN, Feb. 23 (AP).—A German "victory of weapons" must be followed by "a victory of children," says a new magazine which appeared today under the patronage of Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police organizations.

The magazine, "Victory of Arms—Victory of Children," declared that the new German family for which national socialism is preparing a new era should have from four to six children.

Germany, it said, needs an ever increasing number of babies to meet the needs for hands to perform the tasks "which time and destiny are thrusting at the reich."

Many photographs were presented of the Nordic idea of what the new German era mother should look like. There were also pictures of "undesirable" types with the explanation that both may guide a young man in the selection of a wife.

IN GERMAN MEAT RATION: BEAR, FOX, WOLF AND BADGER

Tribune Writer Tells of Life in Berlin.

[This is the second of a series of articles by Mr. Noderer, a member of the staff of THE TRIBUNE bureau in Berlin, who has just returned from Germany.]

BY E. R. NODERER.

Each German is allowed a pound of meat a week.

Some of it is beef, veal, mutton or pork. Some is wild boar, bear, fox, wolf or badger. And some is the meat of horses and dogs.

Berliners no longer will buy sausages. They will not buy them because of the publicity given to a decree providing that the meat of dogs intended for human consumption must be inspected for trichina, a parasitic worm sometimes fatal to man.

This decree, which became effective on Jan. 1 of this year, was published in the Berlin papers, but the propaganda ministry indignantly denied that it meant anything.

From "Whoa" to "Beefsteak."

Why it was published was not made clear, but a propaganda ministry spokesman said, "If we were forced to eat dogs you may be assured that we would see to it that no such announcement would appear in the papers."

He said 10,000 dogs were eaten in Germany in 1912.

"There are still persons who enjoy dog meat," he said, adding with a laugh, "Many of you enjoy 'beefsteak' without knowing that it recently responded to 'giddap' and 'whoa.'"

It should not be concluded, however, that dog and horse meat form a large part of the German meat diet. They do not, for the present, at least.

Ration Sometimes Falls Short.

In Berlin it is not always possible to get a pound of meat a week, even tho that is the ration, except for heavy workers, who get somewhat more. Housewives stand in line, sometimes for hours, in order to get their share. Since there often isn't enough to go around, it is necessary to get there early. Sometimes members of families stand in line in relays. A younger daughter will hold a place for an hour or two, only to be relieved by her mother later in the morning. This is particularly true during the winter months when, because of the low fat content of their diet, the Germans are quick to feel the cold.

As a matter of fact, it is necessary to line up to buy almost anything in Berlin. The shortage in food is due, the Nazis say, to the transportation problem. Supplying a city of more than 4,000,000 persons, they add, imposes a severe strain upon the nation's railroads, on which the army and the munitions industries have first call.

Other Cities Fare Better.

There may be something in their contention, since it is possible to eat much better in cities such as Hamburg, Cologne, Nuremburg, and Munich than in the capital. Last December, in the Dom hotel in Cologne, I was served real coffee.

Customers form lines even in Nazi 10 cent stores, particularly when the month's ration of "candy made of chocolate products" is distributed. They then wind up and down the aisles, sometimes bringing all other activity in the stores to a halt. The monthly candy ration usually consists of about a 10th of a pound of "chocolate" a person.

Even the lowly potato is difficult to obtain in Germany, and other vegetables, such as cauliflower, cabbage, spinach and salad greens are often impossible to get. Vegetables were somewhat more plentiful last summer after the occupation of the Low Countries, when the Nazis helped themselves to the supplies in Holland and Belgium.

Grocers Have Favorites.

For some vegetables, there are no ration cards, but grocers are instructed by authorities to sell only a limited amount to each customer.

This has led to considerable "under the counter" dealing in which grocers reserve a head of cabbage or a kilo [2.2 pounds] of potatoes for their favorite customers.

An important function of a house maid is to make friends with the butcher, the baker, and the candlestick maker. A maid who has a wide circle of friends among the merchants can command her own price in Berlin households.

Early in the war, Berlin housewives learned that by running from store to store thruout the city, they could add to the purchases they were able to make in their own neighborhoods. When they saw a line outside a shop they would stop and ask, "What is available here?" If it was something they wanted, they got in line. Many got in line without asking, on the theory that, whatever it was, they needed it.

Practice Condemned.

A warning against this practice was issued by Frau Scholtz-Klink, German womanhood leader, who labeled it unfair. She also condemned attempts to make personal friends of shopkeepers.

Rationing regulations change constantly, as supplies increase or decrease with the seasons, or shipments arrive from neighboring countries.

LOOK WHAT $10 GETS U. S. ENVOY EARLE IN SOFIA

Song, Wine Bottles, Cuts Bruises, Help, Police!

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 23 (AP).—United States Minister George H. Earle tonight gave some more details of last night's café fracas, which started, he said, when a German army major objected to the orchestra striking up "Tipperary," a British world war marching song which Earle had requested.

George H. Earle.

Earle, holding a special press conference, exhibited arm injuries suffered in the scuffle and said: "The German cornered me in a washroom and demanded to know why I had given the orchestra ten bucks to play 'Tipperary.'

"I told him that was my business, and that Bulgaria was a neutral country."

The Trouble Starts.

Earle, 220 pound former governor of Pennsylvania and world war commander of a submarine chaser, said that after leaving the washroom he returned to his table.

The orchestra still was playing "Tipperary" and he joined with others in singing it.

Hisses and booes came from other diners, and the saber-scarred German officer jumped to his feet and demanded that the song be stopped. The frightened manager complied. The orchestra swung into a German waltz.

This brought hisses and booes from those favoring "Tipperary."

Then the bottle throwing began. The barrage lifted from all corners of the restaurant.

Women shrieked and men cursed. Some women dived under the tables. Others fled to the kitchen.

Hit by a Bottle.

One bottle flying thru the air struck Earle on the arm, cutting him.

Another was seen to strike the German major full on the forehead. He fell to the floor unconscious.

Ten men in heavy boots rushed across the floor toward Earle's table. A man described as a Bulgarian shoemaker and a group of male dancers intervened, as did restaurant attendants.

Finally Bulgarian army officers and a police emergency squad stormed into the restaurant, took the wounded German officer to a hospital, and shooed all customers out into the dawn.

Earle, speaking of the bottle which struck him, said: "I warded that one off and retaliated by injuring his [the thrower's] features.

"The incident was regrettable, but I saw no other course."

Washington Won't Comment.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 [Special].—The state department declined tonight to comment on the café fracas in Sofia, in which Minister George H. Earle was involved, but George Earle IV., the envoy's eldest son, wasn't so reserved.

"Just like my old man," commented George IV., who was in Washington on leave from Floyd Bennett field, New York, where he is a naval flying cadet.

Earle was appointed minister to Bulgaria a year ago by President Roosevelt. It was the second time the President had rewarded the wealthy Pennsylvanian for leaving the Republican party in 1932 to support the New Deal with his time and considerable money.

Earle's first appointment in the diplomatic service came in 1933 when President Roosevelt named him minister to Austria. As soon as he arrived in Vienna Earle aroused the wrath of the Austrians with newspaper interviews in which he warned them against adoption of the anti-Semitic policy then being urged upon them by German Nazis.

Earle weathered the storm for a time, but resigned in less than a year and returned home to run for governor on the Democratic ticket. He was elected twice, the second term being marked by graft and corruption scandals which resulted in prison sentences for some of his political associates.

Son of a wealthy financier, Earle was a sportsman playboy before his first appointment to the diplomatic service.

BRITISH AIR CHIEF HAILS PERFORMANCE OF AMERICAN SHIPS

Marshal Dowding.

American bombing and fighting planes are performing "extraordinary well" in the service of the royal air force, Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh Dowding, former head of the British fighter command, said at Chicago airport yesterday. He flew in from Idaho, then went on to Washington, D. C., on a United Air Lines Mainliner.

Sir Hugh, who is touring American factories in an effort to arrange standardization of American planes to fit British requirements, said the new Martin B-26 medium bombers are seeing heavy duty in the Mediterranean area, and that Curtiss P-40 pursuit planes are being used in force over England. R. A. F. pilots praise the planes for their speed and maneuverability, he said. He also commended the Hudson medium bombers and Grumann fighters.

Sir Hugh called his conference with American manufacturers "friendly discussions," adding: "If our two countries are going to use nearly the same type of equipment it would be better for us to use exactly the same type. That's why I'm here." Describing his visits to plants he said: "I always chat with the workers and tell them the story of their machines in combat. Then they realize that their hard work is bearing good fruit."

STRONG FORCES OF NAZI PLANES ATTACK BRITAIN

Many Turned Back Over Dover Strait.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Strong squadrons of German fighters and bombers roared across Dover strait today in what the Press association, a British news agency, viewed as the start of the Nazi air forces' spring air offensive.

Most of the Germans were turned back by British Spitfire planes and antiaircraft fire, but the luftwaffe persisted tonight. The raiders fanned out over Britain for widespread raids and carried out a light attack against London.

The British air force bombed the so-called "invasion ports" of Calais and Boulogne during the night.

Two Alarms in London.

Air sirens sounded twice in London after nightfall. The second alarm was just before midnight, but lasted less than an hour.

The air ministry described the daylight activity as "slight" and said it was chiefly in the regions of the east and southeast coasts.

Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production, told Canadians in a trans-Atlantic broadcast that Nazi warplanes have lost their terror.

Factory damage has been repaired, he declared, and "now it may be said that industrial plants are no longer in the same danger." He urged the dominion workers to send food and weapons and to "seek the world over for ships."

3 Hour Battle in Air.

SOMEWHERE ON THE NORTHEAST COAST OF ENGLAND, Feb. 23 (AP).—A spectacular three hour battle between raiding planes and antiaircraft batteries was fought here today. The raiders gave this place its heaviest attack of the war.

Pound Docks of Hull.

BERLIN, Feb. 23 (AP).—The English seaport of Hull was pounded by German bombers last night, the high command reported today, and DNB, the official German news agency, amplifying the report, said great fires were started along the seven miles of docks which line the Humber river, 22 miles inland from the North sea.

The communique also reported that in a long range bomber attack on British ships northwest of Scotland last Wednesday "two additional large merchant vessels were so seriously damaged their loss ay be assumed."

RETURN OF JOBS TO REJECTED DRAFTEES URGED

Draft registrants who leave their work and then are rejected for service because they fail to meet army physical standards have a moral right to be reinstated in their former jobs, Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service, said yesterday. Altho the selective service act requires reinstatement by former employers of draftees after they have completed their year's military training, no provision is made for men who fail to pass the physical tests.

Armstrong said most Chicago employers are reinstating rejected draftees but, he added, "I want to make certain that no man is unjustly treated."

Forty-nine Chicago and four suburban draft boards will supply 351 of the 392 men scheduled for induction into the army here next Friday. The others will come from Hillsboro, West Chicago, Wheaton, Villa Park, and Downers Grove. Friday's quota will include 141 replacements for men rejected for physical defects during January.

British to Resume Flying Service to America May 1

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—British flying boat service between the United States and England will be resumed about May 1. Paul Bewshea, representing Airways Atlantic, Ltd., said that operations would be "irregular"—as during 1940—and that the big air boats would carry occasional passengers but principally mail. The only passenger air service to Europe this winter has been via the Pan American Clippers, which fly to Lisbon, Portugal.

France Sentences 5 for Trying to Join De Gaulle

VICHY, Feb. 23.—A dispatch from Morocco reported today that five French citizens each have been sentenced by the military court at Meknes to five years of forced labor and deprivation of civic rights for having attempted "to take service in a foreign army without the consent of the French government." It is understood they tried to join the dissident movement of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

STRUCK BY FREIGHT CAR; DIES.

GREEKS CAPTURE 1,272 ITALIANS IN WEEK'S BATTLES

ATHENS, Feb. 24 [Monday] (AP).—The Greek army fighting in Albania captured 1,272 Italians during the past week and repulsed 16 counterattacks, a Greek government spokesman early today said. Thirty officers were among the prisoners and considerable quantities of Facist armament also were taken, he said.

In the central sector the Greeks were said to have made strategic gains, but flooded streams and icy conditions still hampered all fighting. Greek airmen shot down six Italian aircraft without losing a single machine themselves, the spokesman declared.

It was reported that in recent operations, the Greeks destroyed or captured seven Italian tanks.

British airmen in Greece said their bombs did "considerable damage" Saturday to Italian storage dumps and concentrations of motor transport columns in the Buzi area near Tepeleni. The British also reported their patrols shot down three Italian planes.

Code Books Stolen from British Office in Bulgaria

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 24, Monday (AP).—The passport office of the British legation here was robbed during the night, it was learned early today. Code books which were declared to be of no great importance and the equivalent of 100 dollars in consular stamps were taken from the safe. The safe had been opened by a key, and the burglar also apparently had a key to the office which is in a separate building adjoining the legation.

SUBMARINES SINK 7 ITALIAN SHIPS, BRITISH DECLARE

Use Some of Latest Craft in Mediterranean.

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—The admiralty said today that seven Italian supply ships had been blasted to the bottom of the Mediterranean in recent submarine operations, and disclosed indirectly that Britain has sent some of her latest model undersea craft into the sea siege of the Fascist empire.

This announcement came in the wake of the admiralty's proclamation yesterday of a vast danger zone in the Mediterranean in which naval circles said "anything could happen."

It also led Britons to hope that the Mediterranean had become "Cunningham's pond"—for Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, commander of the British Mediterranean fleet—instead of mare nostrum [our sea]—as the Italians call it.

Another Bar to Graziani.

Whatever effect the British "danger zone" in the Mediterranean might have on Hitler's drive into the Balkans, it will be another obstacle the Italians must hurdle to get supplies to Marshal Rodolfo Graziani and his Fascist legions now isolated in Tripoli by the British army and navy.

The admiralty's announcement that British submarines are continuing to sink Italian supply ships listed two submarines—the Upholder and the Utmost—which are not found in the latest naval reference books, thus indicating they are among Britain's newest submersibles.

It has been announced that other new British war craft are operating in the Mediterranean.

The Report of Sinkings.

If Britain decides to take any kind of land initiative in the Balkans, it will be the navy that will have to carry troops there and land them.

The admiralty reported these sinkings: The Upholder, two supply ships; the Rover, an oil tanker; the Regent, a supply ship; the Truant, the largest ship in a Fascist convoy; the Triton, two supply ships.

The Utmost hit a supply ship which was "seen to be in a sinking condition," but the admiralty did not claim it as being sunk.

The admiralty today announced that the British trawler Ormonde had been sunk. The number of casualties was not disclosed.

Parachute Troops Test Latest Fall Costumes

Fort Benning, Ga., Feb. 23 [Special].—One hundred twenty of the 450 men in the 501st parachute battalion have been equipped with new uniforms and shoes for a test of the proper apparel for parachute troops. The one piece suits are made from snagproof olive drab material and liberally supplied with pockets sealed with slide fasteners. The shoes have inner soles of sponge rubber to absorb the shock of landing.

21 NOTED WOMEN BACK HOOVER ON FOOD TO EUROPE

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—Raymond S. Richmond, secretary of the national committee on food for the small democracies, said today that 21 American women authors had signed a statement favoring former President Hoover's European food relief plan.

The statement said that "feeding these 37,000,000 suffering people is not only humane, but will assist Great Britain in its gallant fight to maintain the traditions of free nations."

1,200 AMERICANS TRAIN FOR FLYING CORPS IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 23.—Some 1,200 American citiezns have joined the Royal Canadian Air Force or are being trained under the commonwealth air training plan, it was disclosed today. The proportion of American flyers in the R. C. A. F. was estimated at more than 7 per cent.

Many of the American flyers have had experience either in the military services or in commercial flying. They were said to have done particularly good work as instructors of pilots, bombers, observers, and navigators.

Applicants for entry to the R. C. A. F. usually are required to take an oath of allegiance to the king of England, but in the case of volunteers of foreign birth, where such an oath would entail the forfeiture of citizenship, this oath is not required.

INDIA EXPANDS AS AN ARSENAL FOR BRITISH EMPIRE

Arms Output Far Larger than in Last War.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 23—Information regarding the rapid industrial expansion of India and the growing importance of that country as a military power and a British Empire arsenal in the Orient, is given by Sir George Dunbar in a booklet on "India at War," just published.

India, he said, now makes about 90 per cent of her own war materials from 6 inch guns to uniforms. She already has met large and varied demands from overseas, including 100 million rounds of small arms ammunition. India is sending Britain 125,000 pairs of army boots monthly.

As long ago as last May, India had far outstripped her achievements in the vital year of the last war. In fact, orders placed in September and October, 1940, exceeded the total demand for 1917-18. Three thousand armored vehicles are being produced in the present year and aircraft construction is planned.

Increases Steel Production.

Iron and steel production in 1939 was 1,575,000 tons, compared with 204,000 tons 25 years ago and only 63,000 tons in 1913. Steel production now exceeds the needs of the country.

With a population of more than 385,000,000, India represents a practically inexhaustible reserve of manpower for the fighting services and war industries. When the war began, Dunbar asserted, army recruiting offices were inundated with volunteers.

In December, he said the "Indian army had—apart from British troops stationed in the country—a peacetime strength of about 150,000. India already has sent some 60,000 men to reinforce the garrisons at Aden and Singapore and to strengthen Gen. Wavell's armies in north and east Africa. Transport units of the Indian army served in the French campaign last spring."

The newly raised Indian army now numbers half a million men. This is in addition to regular, territorial and garrison forces in which more than 53,000 men were enrolled in the first eight months of the war. The figure of half a million has not been increased because of the difficulty of supplying instruction and equipment for more.

Largest Naval Force.

India possesses the largest naval forces in her history—an increase of about 200 per cent—and they are steadily growing, Dunbar said. In the past India has not been "sea minded," he added, but in the world of today India's strategic frontiers have been advanced eastward to Singapore and west to the Suez canal and he foresees an India increasingly conscious of maritime responsibilities.

There is no lack of recruits for the Indian navy, Dunbar said. "Under modern seafaring conditions a heavier type of man from the inland districts of the north has largely replaced the lighter built traditional sailors of India living on the Malabar coast."

Dunbar, writing of the expansion of the young Indian air force, said that in addition to the volunteer air force the reserve has been "overwhelmed with applicants."

Jugo-Slavia to Imprison Violators of Price Rulings

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Feb. 23.—The Jugo-Slav ministry of supply today published a decree providing punishment of 30 days in prison and a fine up to 5,000 dinars [about $118] for wholesalers or retailers who violate commodity price rulings. The commodity list includes almost everything except luxuries.

Father Convicted

MRS. VIRGINIA COX.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 23 (AP).—Earl T. Brewer, 40 year old farmer, today was convicted of fatally stabbing his son-in-law, H. Glen Cox, and sentenced to 99 years in the state penitentiary. The jury received the case late last night.

The defendant, after hearing the verdict, turned sobbing to his wife with the remark: "It looks like a man ain't got no rights."

Cox, 19, was slain at a Fort Worth apartment house Jan. 6, four days after his elopment and marriage with the defendant's 14 year old daughter, Virginia Ruth Brewer Cox.

Otis Rogers, defense counsel, said the verdict would be appealed.

RENEWS DEMAND BRITAIN UNLOAD ITS SHIPS FASTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Sunday Express, owned by Minister of Aircraft Production Lord Beaverbrook, today continued its campaign for immediate government action to solve delays in loading and unloading ships.

"We know that ships which could turn around and put to sea again in three days often are held up for weeks," its editorial said. "We know that much propaganda is being put out in the dock areas by pro-Nazi and communist elements among us preaching hatred and discontent between dockers and dock owners."

The Sunday Express not only blamed labor trouble for the delays, but declared that rivalry among "railway companies, road transport concerns, and barge owners" also was responsible.

PRESIDENT AIDS WAR RELIEF OF BRITISH CHURCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Feb. 23.—President Roosevelt and Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, his mother, were among contributors today to a $300,000 war relief fund for the church of England being raised by the Episcopal church of the United States this week and next.

Rev. Frank Wilson.

Their contributions were in the regular Sunday offering taken up at St. James Episcopal church in Hyde Park and turned over in toto to the British fund. The Rev. Frank Wilson, rector, announced the purposes of the fund raising, clinching his argument in its favor by reminding the congregation of the visit of the British king and queen to the church during their stay in the United States.

"We have a real obligation to the Church of England in this country, particularly in this parish, where a little over a year ago we had assisting with us in the services that morning the English royal family," the rector asserted.

Bishop Charges Ulster Raids 'Catholic Homes'

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Feb. 23 (AP).—Northern Ireland government forces have raided "Catholic homes" on an "almost incredible scale" since the war began, the Rt. Rev. Daniel Mageean, Roman Catholic bishop of Down and Connor, charged today. In a lenten pastoral letter, the bishop declared the raids continue regularly, with Ulster forces, who oppose union with Catholic Ireland, battering in the doors of homes with rifle butts and brandishing revolvers during questioning of Catholic families.

FINDS ANOTHER MAN KISSING WIFE; KILLS HIM

Husband Tells of Battle in Bedroom.

Glendale, Cal., Feb. 23 [Special].—Police Capt. W. E. Hegi said today R. L. Hawkins, 27 year old carpenter, confessed he shot and killed Clinton N. Thompson, 24, aircraft company employé, after surprising his wife, Winnie Jean, 23, and Thompson in the bedroom of the Hawkins home.

Hegi said Mrs. Hawkins told him she loved Thompson. He also quoted Hawkins as saying he and Mrs. Hawkins recently decided to separate for a month because Mrs. Hawkins "wanted to have a fling."

Victim Leaves Widow.

Thompson, who lived at Long Beach, leaves his widow, an expectant mother.

Hegi said Hawkins told him this story:

Hawkins and his wife two weeks ago decided to part for a month because Mrs. Hawkins wanted to have "a fling." He took their 3 year old son, Ronny, and went to San Luis Obispo, Cal., to work as a carpenter, but returned last night.

Finding no one home and a man's clothing scattered about the house, he hid in an alley. At about 4 a. m. Mrs. Hawkins and Thompson arrived. After a while Hawkins peeked in the bedroom window and saw Thompson fervently kissing Mrs. Hawkins.

The Tragedy Follows.

Hawkins watched until the bedroom light was turned off, then entered and confronted the couple with the gun. Thompson hurled an alarm clock at the gun, and lunged at Hawkins, who started shooting. Thompson collapsed and Hawkins then went next door and told neighbors to call police. Mrs. Hawkins told police she loved Thompson.

DEFIES 2 BANDITS; SHOT.

Mitzi Saunders, 31 years old, 1824 Hastings street, was wounded in the left leg early yesterday by a bullet fired after he defied two Negro bandits who ordered him to "stand and deliver" at Wood and Hastings streets.

8 POLICE SQUADS RUSHED TO CCC CAMP AFTER ROW

Eight police squads were called last night to the Glenview CCC camp at Lake avenue and Harms road, three miles west of Wilmette, after a disturbance in Company 605 of the camp, composed of 180 colored youths, which has been under quarantine for scarlet fever for the last two weeks.

The altercation began with a fist fight between one of the boys and a company leader. Glenview police were called. As the belligerents were being questioned, the policemen became alarmed by what they considered the threatening attitude of others in the company and sent in a call for reinforcements.

Squads from the state and county highway police and the police of Skokie and Lincolnwood responded, but the camp quieted down. The squads were later held in reserve at the Glenview police station. There are 1,200 boys in the camp, but the disturbance was confined to the one company.

Enamel Plant in Wilmette Is Destroyed by Fire

A one and one-half story frame building housing the Vitreous Enamel company at 1419 Central avenue, Wilmette, was destroyed by fire last night. Thomas E. Thompson, owner of the firm, estimated the loss at $10,000. Fire Chief Walter H. Zibble of Wilmette said that the roof apparently was fired by a blast furnace used in melting enamel materials.

EXTRA MILDNESS, EXTRA COOLNESS, EXTRA FLAVOR

AND

28% LESS NICOTINE

than the average of the 4 other largest-selling cigarettes tested—less than any of them—according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself

FIVE of the largest-selling cigarettes . . . the brands that most of you probably smoke right now . . . were analyzed and compared by tests of the smoke itself. For, after all, it's what you get in the smoke that interests you . . . the smoke's the thing.

And over and over again the smoke of the slower-burning brand . . . Camel . . . was found to contain less nicotine.

DICK DURRANCE VS. THE STOP-WATCH AT SUN VALLEY

He's a little man to look at—but on a pair of "hickories" he's a mighty giant. He's held virtually every major down-hill and slalom title in North America. He smokes . . . as much as he likes . . . but note: He smokes the slower-burning cigarette that gives extra mildness and less nicotine in the smoke . . . Camel.

AT THE ROUNDHOUSE high up on Sun Valley's famous Baldy Mountain, Dick Durrance (above) takes time out for another Camel. "That Camel flavor is something special," he says. "Never wears out its welcome—always hits the spot."

TINKHAM MOVES TO KEEP US OUT OF WAR IN ASIA

Warns Against Fighting Britain's Battle.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—With the British empire depending on the United States to save British possessions in the Pacific ocean from attack by Japan, Representative George Holden Tinkham [R., Mass.] today proposed congressional action to deter President Roosevelt from dispatching our navy to the orient.

The Massachusetts congressman announced that he will introduce in the house tomorrow a joint resolution of the senate and house declaring their opposition to:

1. The "sending of any ships of the Pacific fleet to Singapore."
2. "Intervention in the wars of Asia."

Such a resolution would become effective upon passage by both houses, not being subject to veto by the President.

Day of Conferences.

The Tinkham resolution was the outstanding development of a day of tactical conferences of the proponents and opponents of the war dictatorship bill on the eve of the final week of its consideration by the senate. Passage of the measure by the end of the week with not more than 30 votes against it is the prospect.

That the bill will be materially modified, however, was the opinion expressed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], a leader of the opposition, following a conference of his group which had before it a canvass of sentiment in the senate. The opposition leaders believe they have the votes to force the following amendments:

1. The Ellender amendment declaring that the bill does not authorize the dispatch of our armed forces outside of the western hemisphere except to American possessions, including the Philippines.
2. A prohibition of the employment of American warships to convoy cargoes to the war zones.
3. Limitation of the delegation of dictatorial authority to the President to one year instead of two years, as provided by the house bill.

Wave of Apprehension.

Senators attending the opposition conference said they are tremendously impressed by the rising tide of apprehension in the country that the delegation of unfettered authority to the President to aid any nation he pleases is bound to get the country into war. Senator Wheeler was snowed under with telegrams from all parts of the country commending his broadcast last night attacking the bill as a war measure. Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois wired the senator from Tucson, Ariz., saying:

"Just listened to your great and moving radio address. I congratulate you with all my heart."

Representative Tinkham was moved to propose his resolution by the increasing indications that it will be in the far east that the United States will get into the war.

"It is being repeatedly stated publicly," he said in explaining his resolution, "that the President is proposing to send ships of the United States Pacific fleet to the Malayan archipelago where is situated Singapore, a great Asiatic harbor fortified by Great Britain for her imperialistic purposes and interests.

"Gateway of Empire."

"Singapore is not within the western hemisphere, which is the only part of the world which the United States is committed to defend. On the contrary, Singapore is solely the fortified gateway of England's far eastern empire.

"At present Great Britain and Japan are menacing each other in Asia. Should any part of the United States Pacific fleet go to Singapore, such action could not fail to be regarded as a hostile and provocative act deliberately undertaken to lead the United States into war with Japan.

"Should such a war occur, it would be charged, with justice, that the United States was an aggressor.

"The American people are overwhelmingly opposed to United States entry in war either in Asia or Europe.

"Unless the government mitigates its increasingly imperialistic and aggressive trends in its foreign policy, it will find upon its hands a betrayed, enraged people."

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 23 [Special].—There is such a person as a one armed paperhanger! He is Paul Cardinal, who turned to interior decorator after he lost an arm eight years ago. Before that he was a trapeze artist. In covering ceilings, says Paul, "I start in the corner, get the first two inches straight, and give it a swish with the brush. The rest of the roll always is straight."

AMERICAN CREW FLIES BOMBING SHIP TO CANADA

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—An American crew flew to Canada today a 20-ton B-24 Consolidated bomber, which arrived here last week following a nonstop flight from San Diego, Cal.

The plane is scheduled to be flown to England. Before its departure at dawn, there were reports at La Guardia field that it would be taken to Canada to be fitted with guns.

George J. Newman, Consolidated aircraft test pilot who was in command, returned by transport in mid-afternoon from Montreal and reported he had delivered the plane at an undisclosed town in Canada. A crew of four other Americans made the trip.

3 FRENCH FLEET UNITS SLIP OUT OF SAIGON PORT

SAIGON, French Indo-China, Feb. 23 (AP).—With military and civil authorities of French Indo-China fearing grave developments, three French warships, the 7,000 ton cruiser Lamotte-Picquet and two destroyers, quietly slipped from their Saigon river anchorage today and sailed for an unannounced destination. They left smaller but unimportant French gunboats at Saigon. Ships in Saigon could be trapped easily by blocking the narrow river entrance.

Regarding the Thailand [Siam] Indo-China peace negotiations, for which Japan is acting as mediator, informed sources said serious obstacles had prevented an agreement, with the viewpoints of the three nations differing widely. The Thai Indo-China armistice is scheduled to terminate Tuesday.

[A Domei, [Japanese] news agency, dispatch from Saigon received in Shanghai said the departure of the French ships followed an extraordinary war council of the Indo-China military and naval authorities. It said the army canceled all leaves and ordered the men and officers to return to their regiments. Domei connected the French preparation with the expiration of the armistice on Tuesday.]

"I never heard his name before...but he claims he owns our house!"

Out of the past came one man, who was a child when his property was sold. The guardian made the sale in the boy's interest—but neglected to get the court's approval. Twenty years later the former minor contested the sale and laid claim to the property—involving the present owner in considerable expense to protect what he thought was his own!

The owner could have been protected against such loss if he had insisted on a Title Guarantee Policy when he bought the property. He would have had no costly lawsuit and no further liability. For under its Title Guarantee Policy, Chicago Title & Trust Company assumes full responsibility for defending the owner's title as guaranteed—shoulders all legal expense—and, in case of loss, promptly pays.

As a title guarantee company, we maintain the most extensive records imaginable, including tract indexes and title records covering every one of the 1,100,000 parcels of land in Cook County—dating back over a period of almost a century of business existence. In addition, our searchers scan hundreds of court proceedings every day... check tax records... query numerous other sources... in order to keep our vast files up-to-date—so that policies may be issued without delay, to help property owners conclude real estate transactions quickly, yet with adequate safeguard to buyer and seller.

FREEDOM TO END IF DICTATOR BILL PASSES!—BROOKS

Senator Warns of Perils; Sees Stifled Speech.

of our military resources, on such terms as he, and he alone, might decide.

"Power to make laws, by his personal edict, as he may deem necessary, to carry out his intentions, and power to delegate any or all of this power to any one he personally chooses to delegate it to.

Same Powers Sought by Dictator.

"Those are the fundamental powers sought by a dictator, and the bill in its original form, as presented to the congress by the chief executive, asks for those powers.

"This, in my opinion, is a war bill, for it asks for the same powers that would be asked if we were actually in a shooting, fighting participation in the war.

"And if the President is given the power to lease, lend, or give away parts of our navy, defense articles of our army, planes or tanks, before he gives them to any nation, whether it be Britain, Greece, China, Russia, or Turkey, or any one else, he surely will ask them how they are getting along in their war.

"Quite likely before he gives them, leases them, or loans them substantial parts of our military forces, he will make a suggestion. And the minute that is done, from that time on we are not only involved in a foreign war, but we become responsible for the outcome of the war.

MESSAGE VIEWED AS KEY

"In the light of the President's message to congress, we can see how far he intends to go. I quote his words spoken on Jan. 6, 1941, before the 77th congress: 'In the future days, which we seek to make secure, we look forward to a world founded upon four essential freedoms. The first is freedom of speech and expression everywhere in the world. The second is freedom of every person to worship God in his own way everywhere in the world. The third is freedom from want everywhere in the world. The fourth is freedom from fear, which, translated in world terms, means world-wide reduction in armaments to such a point and in such a thoro fashion that no nation will be in a position to commit an act of physical aggression against any neighbor anywhere in the world.'

"All this and in the same speech he said this: 'to change a whole nation form a basis of peacetime production of implements of peace to a basis of wartime production of implements of war is no small task.' That gives us a real view and a proper insight into the purposes of this bill.

Widespread Result Visioned.

"Unless checked, the President intends to transform this whole nation into a basis of wartime production of implements of war, and then go out to guarantee freedom to every man in the world.

"And to do that we have got to engage in not one, but every foreign war now in progress in the world.

"It is inconceivable to me that a man can present himself, asking for the people's confidence and for continued authority with the solemn pledge, and I quote the President's words: 'We will not participate in foreign wars,' and then, as soon as he has been reëlected, ask for the authority to turn the whole nation into a wartime production of implements of war with authority to lease, lend, sell, transfer, exchange, or otherwise dispose of to any government whom the President sees fit to aid, in any foreign war, without restriction. This bill asks for that power.

NO MENTION OF BRITAIN

"Many people believe the bill should be passed, because they think it is aid to Britain. But Britain is not mentioned in the bill. The terms of the bill are to sell, transfer, exchange, lease, lend, or otherwise dispose of to any government any defense article, after a mere consultation with the chief of staff of our army or the chief of naval operations of our navy.

"It does not even require that they certify that the article we are going to give away is not vital at the moment to our own defense.

"Once this bill is passed and this nation is placed upon a wartime production basis of implements of war, and the President has authority to give them away wherever he chooses, the President will be required from time to time, but not less frequently than once every 90 days, to transmit to the congress a report of operations, except such information as he deems incompatible with public interest to disclose.

Could Keep Congress in Dark.

"And then not even the congress can know what is happening to our defense articles, if the President decides that it is not best for us to know, or, as is termed in the bill, 'incompatible' with the public interest to disclose.

"What a different story this bill tells from the pledge the chief executive made to the people before election, when he said constantly: 'We will not participate in foreign wars,' and when he promised that in his aid to democracies he would use 'measures short of war.'

"We have not heard that term 'measures short of war' used by any of the proponents of this bill, including the chief executive, since election day, but many of the proponents of the bill are advocating now that we go to war.

"And that means fighting and spreading our forces out over the entire world.

Favors American Methods.

"I am in favor of doing what America has always done, aiding unfortunate people fighting for their liberty.

"I despise aggressor dictators, but I do not believe that we should create one here, while condemning them somewhere else.

"We can aid Britain, or any one else we choose, by giving them from time to time special grants of money or machinery of war thru simple acts of the congress, without giving one man the power to give away what he wants to, under any condition he sees fit, with the power to make the rules to make this nation mind while he gives away these elements of defense, with the authority to tell us, or not to tell us, what he is doing with our national defense.

"Don't forget that it was not long ago that England was encouraging other people to fight with her promise of helping them, when she was not herself prepared either to help them effectively or to defend herself when they fell.

DEFENSE MAIN PROBLEM

"I think the greatest problem in America today is the continuous building of our own defense equipment, so that our people will know that no matter what it costs, in energy, in time, or in money, they are contributing to, and working for, America and for what America represents.

"This they were promised before election, and if democracy is to live, the promises of officials and those who asked for the privilege of leading the nation must be kept in good faith.

Jones' Testimony Cited.

"Our people are a believing people. They believe words when spoken by their officials.

"The other day, as reported in the newspapers, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones said while testifying before a house committee:

"'We're in the war; at least we're nearly in the war. We're preparing for it. When you do that, you've got to throw money away.'

"And the chief executive said, attempting to explain it, according to that same report:

"'To say that the United States is "nearly in the war" is to mouth a lot of words that don't mean anything.'

"But they do mean something in the light of this war bill, in the light of these war powers, in the light of the statement that we're going to guarantee liberties of men all over the world, and in the light of the statements that the congress must delegate this power to lend, lease, or otherwise dispose of any defense article of our army, navy, or air force, to any nation, anywhere, for any consideration that the chief executive personally decides sufficient for the welfare and defense of our country.

"I would like to make myself perfectly clear. I despise dictators, whether it is Hitler, riding with his war machine across Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, France, and attacking England, or whether it is Mussolini, bombing those poor, helpless Ethiopians, or Stalin, crushing helpless Finland.

"Much as I dislike to see the ruthless dictatorships in Russia, Italy, and Germany, I would hate more than ever to establish one here in trying to right the wrongs imposed by other dictators everywhere in the world, and I will not vote for legislation that takes this broad leap toward dictatorship or this double-time march toward becoming involved in foreign wars."

At this point Brooks drew a parallel between the rise of dictatorships in Italy and Germany and the trend in America. [Story on page 1.]

"I recall," Brooks continued, "the words of Dr. Benjamin Franklin near the close of the historic con-

● A woman we know once found very effective protection from middle-aged undergraduates selling magazines.

Some years ago, with her baby and invalid husband, she set up housekeeping at the bottom of a remote canyon down New Mexico way.

They had no neighbors, no road to their door. All their supplies were lowered into the canyon at the end of a stout wire rope. For years, until the canyon was made a National Monument, their only real contact with the outside world was The Sunday New York Times, which Evelyn climbed out of her canyon home to get . . . and, in spite of all, they never missed an issue!

Few of our readers have such a hard time getting The Times. But most of them are just as devoted to it. They read The Times because they want the news, and because The Times brings them all the news that's fit to print—"impartially, without fear or favor."

Do you ever get "fingertip-fidgets"?

"Fingertip-Fidgets?" Exactly! That's what you have when you try to hide your hands because you suddenly discover that your nail polish is chipped or that the shade is not quite right. Avoid "Fingertip-Fidgets" with regular weekly Revlon manicures at your beauty salon. Or get that longer-wearing (so much longer-wearing as you will find) Revlon Nail Enamel today at your favorite cosmetic counter.

2. Revlon shades make fashion news always!

stitutional convention, when those wise men, knowing the tyranny and the oppression that always accompany centralized power, were signing their names to the constitution of the United States—which, by the way, created the body in which I now serve. He made this prophetic remark:

"'In these sentiments, sir, I agree to this constitution with all its faults, if they are such, because I think a general government necessary for us, and there is no form of government but what may be a blessing to the people if well administered; and believe further, that this is likely to be well administered for a course of years and can only end in despotism, as other forms have done before it, when the people shall become so corrupt as to need despotic government, being incapable of any other.'

1776 A SACRED NUMBER

"I had hoped that prediction would never come true within my lifetime. The number 1776 is a sacred number in the minds of those who love America. It denotes its beginning. That same number is at the head of this bill, and this bill, if enacted into law, may well prove to be the final step toward despotic control of our people.

"I have heard men say that Britain is fighting for her life and that if she goes down Hitler will have her navy.

"I would say to you: 'You desecrate the courage of the heroic seamen of Britain.'

"The British boast that the sun never sets upon their empire, and that their navy rules the waves. I thought they had a tradition that captains go down with their ships. I can't believe they would surrender that navy to the enemies of liberty and leave Canada and Australia and India, and the 450 million people of their empire that have helped contribute to and maintain that navy, at the mercy of the wolves.

British Courage Hailed.

"I have too great a respect for the courage of the British soldier and seaman to contemplate that sort of a cowardly surrender will ever take place. I deny that that will happen.

"I believe that England's survival is tremendously beneficial to America and to liberty-loving people everywhere; and I want to pay my tribute to the dogged, determined heroism of the British people. England is fighting for her life and a heroic fight she is making. God grant that she win."

While talk of German seizure of English islands near America goes on no one has suggested that England turn these over to America "in escrow" to prevent the possibility of seizure, Brooks said. The same, he added, applies to British securities in South America.

What He Would Do.

"What would I do?" he asked.

"I would help England if she would help herself and prove that she is interested in our future, too, by turning over to us these islands and securities to hold until the end of the war, so that if she does fall, we then move in our own right, not as aggressors, but as defenders of our own property and our own liberty.

"I hear much talk about Fifth Columnists. Are all the Fifth Columnists on one side? Do you think for one minute that free men, once conquered, would not soon become Fifth Columnists against their conquerors? Do you think the fighting spirit for liberty is completely dead? Do you think that because the country is overrun that every former free man would dedicate his life to destroy freedom everywhere? How, then can they ever be restored?"

Brooks counseled America to settle down to efficient production of needed defense materials and to quit talking herself into a panic. He said the nation should proceed according to its historical tradition of free men voluntarily making their country strong.

"I hear discussion about England's crisis in 90 days, and that is why we must enact this legislation now, giving one man all power," he continued. "What can this bill do that can change it in 90 days? What is there so secret about what this crisis may be? Why can't we be told what it is? Maybe from among our 131 million still free people we can find an answer and a remedy.

"What would I do if we didn't pass this bill?

Quotes Stand of Democrats.

"I would do what the Democrats said they would do before election. I quote:

"'We will not participate in foreign wars.'

"I would do what I promised to do before election. I quote:

"'I will not vote to send American boys to die in foreign wars on foreign shores.'

"I would redeclare my faith in America—valiant America—standing unafraid. I would tell the world we constitute and represent the freedom-loving people of the earth, and the blood of America consists of the blood of all the nations of the earth. The blood of America belongs to America, and to her defense to the last drop; for the defense and safety of her people, the peace of her people, and for the ideals for which she stands. What would I do? I would be for America First."

FIRST PILOT OF NIGHT MAIL PLANE FINDS HIS OLD ROUTE CHANGED

Jack Knight.

Twenty years to the day after he set his single engined air mail plane down at Checkerboard field, Maywood, on the first thru coast to coast flight, Capt. Jack Knight landed in a huge transport liner at Chicago airport yesterday and received anniversary congratulations from city and air line officials.

Knight, 2,400,000 mile veteran of United Air Lines, was retracing the route he followed on Feb. 23, 1921, as an experiment to prove that night mail flying was feasible. His successful night flight from North Platte, Neb., to Chicago made him a hero thruout the nation. Knight said everything had changed but the weather.

John Casey superintendent of Chicago airport, and Ed Nelson, head mechanic for United Air Lines, who met Capt. Knight at Checkerboard field when he landed in 1921, were the first to greet him yesterday.

PURSE GRABBER SLUGS WOMAN; 7 NEW VICTIMS

The same man, aided by an accomplice in a car, took a purse with $4 earlier from Mrs. Margaret Dickson, 6025 South Mozart street.

Other victims of purse snatchers were Mrs. Minnie Gallagher, 5627 South Justine street, who lost $3; Catherine Plescher, 5823 South Bishop street, 25 cents; Mrs. Clara Murdock, 4340 Drexel boulevard, $32, and Mrs. Ruth Oesterlund, 1230 North Central Park avenue, $1.70.

Mrs. Mary Berlingen, 72 years old, 1649 Mozart street, lost her purse after a scuffle with two young men in front of 1424 North Washtenaw avenue yesterday. Her glasses were broken in the struggle. The purse contained $10.

French Teacher Ends Life by Inhaling Monoxide Gas

August Puel, 62 years old, of 630 Briar place, a teacher of French, ended his life last night by inhaling monoxide gas in his car, parked in a closed garage at the rear of 614 Briar place. His body was found by his wife, Edan, 32, who looked in the garage when she heard the car radio playing. A fire inhalator squad endeavored to revive Puel. A note in the car was addressed to a son by a former marriage who lives in New York City.

35 VICTIMS NAME 6 MEMBERS OF GANG AS BANDITS

The prisoners are James Dema, 18 years old, of 2129 North Racine avenue; Joseph Simi, 22, of 1630 North Karlov avenue; George Glancey, 24, of 1628 South Homan avenue; Joseph Larose, 20, of 1033 South Winchester avenue; Lawrence Durimel, 24, of 2506 West Clark street, and John Apel, 24, of 4455 Broadway. The six were taken to the detective bureau showup yesterday but no further identifications were made there.

A seventh man, Victor Feleci, 44, operator of a tavern and rooming house at 4455 Broadway, who was accused by the other six, was charged with disorderly conduct and freed on bond. Police said he was not connected with the gang.

SABOTAGE IN NATIONAL DEFENSE.

Rear Admiral S. C. Hooper told the house merchant marine committee that it would be "advisable" for congress to investigate subversive activities in the merchant marine. He was speaking for the navy department. In his use of the word "advisable" he was restraining himself to an understatement. "Imperative" would be more fitting.

Admiral Hooper went on to explain that a radio operator can shift his apparatus to frequencies for communication with the enemy, he can divulge the position of a ship or a convoy, he can divulge the position of the fleet, and, to quote the admiral, "it might mean the difference between victory and defeat in war."

Many of the radio operators are communists or fellow travelers; they are members of the American Communications association which is notorious for communist tendencies if not affiliations. The radio is not the only point of contact at which the communists have wormed their way into the American marine.

There is a report that Earl Browder's successor as secretary of the American communist party may be Roy B. Hudson, known as the "water front commissar" for the communist control of the National Maritime union of which Joe Curran is the head. Curran, on the Atlantic coast, like Harry Bridges on the Pacific, denies that he is a communist, but he and many of his seamen are following the communist line and they have communist support. The same is true on the Pacific coast, where the alien Harry Bridges with his longshoremen has often blockaded the ports and stopped all sailings. Harry Lundeberg and his Seafarers' union on the west coast have fought Bridges and have fought communism but Bridges can tie up their ships by refusing to handle the cargo.

The strategy of the communists in their international conspiracies is to penetrate deeply into communications where they can paralyze transportation whenever opportunity is presented to them. War, of course, gives the best opportunity. These activities have been organized for many years. Elsewhere than in the United States they have had some startling successes. The maritime section of the Russian GPU placed its agents in the naval forces of other countries as well as in the merchant marine and fomented every grievance which could be exploited to cause crews to mutiny.

At the time a number of episodes occurred in the British and the Dutch fleets nothing was revealed of their origin. Only recently has it been disclosed that the GPU agents were at the bottom of the trouble. In September, 1931, there was a strike in the British navy, known as the Invergordon mutiny, in which grievances regarding pay, food, and leave were fanned into an open revolt which the admiralty treated with soft gloves, probably knowing why the men got out of hand.

In 1933 the GPU agents in the Dutch navy promoted mutinies. Mutineers on the battleship Rotterdam took possession and tried to escape with the ship which was overtaken and forced back into port. There were communist uprisings on four other ships. One in Sumatra waters was bombed from the air before the crew, having suffered many casualties, would surrender.

The tactics of communist penetration are well known. They are also the tactics of other subversive agencies. Historical incident and navy department warnings should not be needed to expose the danger to which a nation is subjected if its defenses and its essential services are honeycombed with cells of disloyalty, intrigue, and sabotage.

Mr. Roosevelt talks of the self-restraint newspapers should put upon themselves when they learn of national deficiencies and dangers discussed by government officials before congressional committees. In this Mr. Roosevelt is characteristically odd. The labor board requires that there shall be subversionists in every defense factory. With the coöperation of the department of labor the board has protected saboteurs in shipping and communications. Persons with designs against this country load the defense supplies which go to Hawaii and the Philippines. They have loaded cargoes and they furnish crews on ships going thru the Panama canal.

The defenses of the United States are charged to fire at the breach and not at the muzzle. It is, as Admiral Hooper suggests, "advisable" to do something about it.

THEY WHO ARE ABOUT TO DIE.

The other day a friend sent us a copy of an editorial published about a month ago in the Harvard Crimson. The student editor commended President Conant of Harvard for the passages in his annual report in which he insisted upon the preservation of freedom of opinion in this country, come what may.

Dr. Conant believes that this country should go to war if that is necessary to defeat Germany. His students who will do the fighting and the dying are evidently of a different mind. "Chicago's Dr. Hutchins," says the Crimson, "appears to better advantage as a defender of even more important ideals. . . . Messrs. Conant and Hutchins are equally valiant guards of the best in American universities but, as a formulator of national policy, Dr. Hutchins shows the greater wisdom." Dr. Hutchins had said that the enactment of H. R. 1776 would be national suicide.

That is the voice of the young of Harvard. The Daily Illini which speaks for the young men at the University of Illinois tells much the same story.

The editor of the Illini commented the other day on the war-whoop delivered in the senate by Mr. Austin of Vermont. "His inclusion of himself among those who will fight, if necessary, is, of course, purely rhetorical. Even the most belligerent statesmen merely make wars; they do not fight them. . . .

"Very few boys will be found in this country who will not go out and fight to save the ideals of freedom from destruction if they are ordered to do so, and not a few will be found willing to volunteer for the job if they are convinced that fighting is the best way to save those ideals. They are liable, however, to resent having men like Senator Austin volunteer for them. If the shouting statesmen prove unequal to the task of making it unnecessary for the boys to fight, then the boys will fight and that is just about all there is to it. . . ."

Attention has already been directed to the fact that the organizations seeking to preserve peace are led by men who served in the last war, while relatively few veterans are found among the war-shouters. Attention is now directed to the evidence that there is no enthusiasm for war among the young men who are to do the dying. It is the old men of the cabinet, not the young men of the campuses, who are clamoring for the enactment of H. R. 1776.

HOW NOT TO REDUCE TAXES.

Senator Harold G. Ward has introduced a resolution in the legislature for a convention to revise the state constitution. The senator has unsuccessfully urged similar resolutions at every recent session. In view of his intelligent and industrious service to the people of Chicago in other matters, this is a foible to be easily excused.

A revision of the basic law of the state is not to be undertaken lightly. If it is attempted, it should have the attention of all of the people of the state. That attention is not available now, nor does it seem probable that it will be available any time in the near future. A redraft of the constitution made when public attention is so largely diverted to national and international affairs could hardly fail to contain such errors of judgment as would lead to its rejection on a referendum.

While the revenue section of the present constitution is not the only one that has been subject to criticism, it has received the most criticism. It has been asserted that it restricts unduly the sources of taxes. Insofar as this is true, it is a good thing.

There is probably no greater mirage in American politics than the hope, as expressed in various legislative and constitutional enactments, that by providing some new tax relief will be afforded from an old one. The innocents who battle for these foredoomed causes never seem to realize that whenever you give a politician a new way to raise money, he will quickly devise a new way to spend it. Normally his ingenuity has provided the means of spending even before the means of taxing is provided.

The retail occupational tax—our so-called sales tax—is a perfect example. It was supposed to replace the state tax on real estate, which it did after a fashion. But let the average homeowner figure out how much real estate tax he has saved, at the 50 cent rate which was the highest imposed for state purposes in recent years, and set off against this the sales taxes he pays in the course of a year. He will find himself sadly in the hole. The sales tax proved such a gold mine that the ordinary expenditures of the state government, exclusive of any payments for relief or old age pensions, were swollen to disgraceful proportions.

Another charge against the present revenue section is that its clause imposing uniformity makes for an uncollectible personal property tax. The refutation of that lies right here in Chicago. Assessor Clark has found enough loopholes in the uniformity clause to drive a truckload of federal income tax returns thru it, and his assessments stand up in court. If the taxes on them are not collected, that is not his fault. It is the fault of the officials charged with tax collection and of the political machine to which both he and they belong.

The great bulk of the troubles of our present tax system are administrative. They would be solved if we took more pains to elect officials with the gumption and courage to solve them. Such defects as are not administrative can largely be remedied by statute. Few, if any, of them stem back to the constitution.

Taxes are never reduced by tinkering with the taxing machinery. The only way to cut taxes is to get at them from the other end—the spending end—by eliminating waste and dropping needless governmental activities. That is not a very popular remedy, at least with politicians, but it is the only one that works.

WHY WASTE PRISON LABOR?

[New York Herald Tribune.]

Hardly a citizen could be found to argue that prison inmates should not be allowed, even forced, to earn their keep. Yet prison authorities find it difficult to provide useful — and legal — employment for their charges. Labor unions protest the competition of enforced and unpaid or low-paid labor. Industries protest the competition of prison-made goods. The protesters have been successful to the point where, according to the Prison Association of New York, federal and state legislation restricts prison labor "almost to a nullifying minimum. Hundreds of prisoners are employed on what might be termed 'made work.'"

Now that skilled labor and equipment are in demand for the national defense program, the association recommends to the state legislature that a study of the possibilities of using the potential man power in the prisons be made without delay. The suggestion is a valid one. When every effort to increase production is a contribution to the nation's security, jealousy of competition should give way to the greater good. The governor and the legislature in collaboration with the prison authorities should certainly find some way, within the bounds of limiting legislation or by easing the limitations, to use the prisoners' labor, either directly on defense projects of the state or nation; or to release other labor for the defense effort; or, in the case of short term prisoners, to provide trade training that will give the men a chance of useful employment when they have served out their terms.

Moreover, even prisoners can be patriots; there are few of them but what would give more honest effort to necessary defense work than to "made work," and find a healthy stimulus in the doing of it.

The army is going to use Comanches, who have no written language and whose messages, therefore, cannot be decoded, in the signal corps. Here is America's secret weapon—the Indian sign.—Boston Globe.

A FRIEND OF MR. DOOLEY.

The recent death of John McKenna, the old Chicagoan who figured in the genesis of Finley Peter Dunne's "Mr. Dooley," brings the following comment from Elmer Ellis of the University of Missouri, whose biography of Dunne will appear next September:

"Among all the notices of John McKenna that have come to my desk, none has hit upon the real place he played in the 'Dooley' writings. McKenna was a character, called by his real name, in Dunne's early 'Col. McNeery' articles, which came out in the Post during the summer of 1893. When Saloonkeeper McGarry, after whom McNeery was patterned, complained to John R. Walsh, owner of the Post, the latter asked Dunne to change the character, whereupon the writer merely followed McKenna out to Bridgeport and created the imaginary Martin Dooley to replace McNeery.

"In the first article of the Dooley series Dunne has John McKenna, lonesome because his old companion, Col. McNeery, has gone back to Ireland, searching out the tavern of Mr. Dooley on Archey road. From then [the late fall of 1893] until the campaign of 1896, the sketches deal regularly with Dooley and McKenna.

"During the campaign of 1896 Mr. Hennessy was introduced as a Democrat to carry on the political argument with the Republican McKenna, while Dooley served as chairman. After the campaign Dunne dropped McKenna and kept Hennessy as a foil for Dooley. He could ridicule the imaginary Hennessy more freely than the real-life McKenna, of whom he was very fond.

"I am telling you this to make the point that John McKenna, a real person, was not the Hennessy of the Dooley tradition, as newspaper accounts have stated."

THE RANGE COOK'S SONG.

Come all you young waddies,
I'll sing you a song.
Stand back from the wagon,
Stay where you belong.
I heard you observing
I'm fussy and slow.
While you're punching dogies
I'm punching the dough.

I know that your stomachs
Would grow to your backs
If it weren't for the cook
Who kept filling the slack.
With the beans in the box
And the pork in the tub,
Now I'm wondering who
Would be cooking your grub.

You think that you're handy
With gun and with rope,
But I notice you're bashful
While using the soap.
While you're rolling Durham
For a brown cigaret,
I'm rolling the dough

The Class in Charley Horses.

Add this to the controversy about "Charley horse":

About 1890 the baseball team of Sioux City of the Western Baseball league had an old, broken-down white horse named "Charley." The limp of the horse was so typical that when a player, after injury to his thigh or leg, developed a similar limp some one would say, "Here comes Charley." [See Lloyd, F. S.; Deaver, G. C., and Eastwood, F. R., "Safety in Athletics," p. 345, W. B. Saunders company, Philadelphia, 1936.]

The term was used in the '90s freely on Stagg field among us football players. It is really a severe contusion of the muscles of the part involved, with resulting hemorrhage, low grade inflammation, and sometimes new bone formation. Rest is needed; massage is contra-indicated, and heat, with time, undoes the damage. K. S.

[The learned doctor gives an excellent description of "Charley horse" as an affliction that requires medical attention. The popular use of the phrase extends to any muscular pains, severe or mild, that follow exercise.]

A Bomb for Shakespeare's Brother.

The dispatches which told of the bombing of St. Savior's church in Southwark, London, failed to mention that Shakespeare's brother, Edmund, was buried there. He was 16 years younger than William and had apparently gone to London to find employment in the theaters under the dramatist's auspices.

The register of St. Savior's calls him "a player," a rather unusual notation. His name cannot be found in any of the theatrical records of the period, so it may be assumed that his position was quite obscure.

ON THE BALMY BOULEVARD.

Never mind the wintry blastings,
Never heed the Boul Mich blasts;
I shall show you spring eternal
(So long as th' business lasts):
Light-clad maidens on the greensward,
Twittering birdlets sing and hop;
Yep, it's always spring or summer

Forty Years Ago Our Forefathers—

The first column appeared on Monday, Jan. 21, 1901, over the initials B. L. T., which as every one ought to know stand for Bert Leston Taylor.

On Wednesday, April 16, 1902, the column consisted of nothing more than its caption and the line, "What's good for a cold? B. L. T."

A period of seven years followed in which there was no Line o' Type column. B. L. T. was then in New York, where he became an editor of the humorous weekly, Puck. He returned to The Tribune in 1909.

If a cigar had been two inches shorter, world wars I. and II. would not have happened. At the battle of Sadowa [1866], when things were going badly for the Prussians, Bismarck decided to blow his brains out if an army corps in reserve did not come up before he had burned his cigar down to its butt. CHARLES COLLINS.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

VITAMIN K IN THE CONTROL OF BLEEDING.

THE drama of the vitamins represents a series of episodes which unfold themselves slowly. Most of the scenes are laid among the retorts, test tubes, and incubators of a laboratory where investigators are experimenting with the diets of animals. The performance—like a Chinese play—goes on and on with no end in sight. In fact, "finis" will probably not be written for many years to come.

One of the most recent additions has to do with vitamin K. A research worker in Copenhagen, responding to the name of Dam, observed that when newly hatched chicks were maintained on a fat free menu for a few weeks they developed hemorrhages from the wings, skin, etc. He reasoned that a deficiency of some factor, contained in oily material, must be responsible for the disturbance.

After studying the blood of these young fowls he was able to prove that an important chemical, essential to the clotting process, was greatly reduced in amount—in some instances well nigh absent. Feeding special fats promptly relieved the disorder. Dam called the vitamin "K" from the first letter of the Danish word, "Koagulation."

The chief source of this food accessory is alfalfa. Soy bean oil, spoiled fish meal, rice bran, casein, spinach, cabbage, tomatoes, and hog liver oil also supply it. Strangely enough, such a dangerous germ as the staphylococcus is capable of producing this material. The substance can now be manufactured artificially, however, so that we do not have to depend upon nature.

In most patients with a tendency toward hemorrhage, the circulation does not contain all of the elements needed for coagulation. One in particular, prothrombin, is strongly affected by the lack of K. Unless it is present, oozing from the capillaries will occur. Whenever K is missing prothrombin disappears likewise.

As many of us know, in jaundice the skin becomes yellow with bile. Here, the danger of a surgical operation is greatly increased because the blood may fail to clot promptly. In consequence, so much may be lost as to endanger the patient's life. The reason is that the liver has been damaged temporarily — enough, at least, to produce a sharp drop in K. Then it is that taking the vitamin by mouth will exert a favorable influence. The normal clotting time can be restored rather quickly by feeding K along with bile salts.

Fortunately, we have methods by means of which we can determine whether or not the circulation possesses sufficient prothrombin. If it doesn't, K is given and, in many individuals with a prolonged coagulation period, safety is insured.

Recently the suggestion has been offered that in certain cases of pregnancy, both K and bile salts should be administered in an effort to avoid an excessive loss of vital fluid. This will be as valuable to the babe as to the mother. In surgical procedures involving the bowel there is every reason to use this preparation, as every tiny vessel may not be caught and it is essential to safeguard the patient against the slightest bleeding.

For most of us, if the liver is functioning at par, we can take a small amount of fatty food with our regular meals and forget all about the matter. When there is evidence of a shortage, however, we can resort to this useful food adjunct.

INK SPOT.

M. M. writes: Several weeks ago my daughter had a pen point, with ink on it, jabbed into her face accidentally, just below the eye. How can the blue mark be removed?

REPLY.

The basic constituents of ink are iron and tannic or gallic acid. The discoloration is similar to a tattoo mark. If it is superficial, it will wear away in time. If it is deep—involving the true skin—a dissolving chemical will be required. Your physician may be able to introduce a small amount of some suitable material by means of a hypodermic needle. With the apparatus left in place, the solution may be withdrawn after a few minutes.

X-RAYING THE BRAIN.

Mrs. F. R. L. writes: What is meant by an air brain test?

REPLY.

You probably refer to a ventriculogram. Air is injected into the ventricles, followed by the taking of an X-ray picture. This will enable the physician to view clearly the contour of the spaces within the brain. The procedure is employed for the detection of abcesses or growths of any sort.

GREAT MEN.

Blue Island, Ill., Feb. 20.—There is today much loose talk of "great men." There are those who would have us believe that Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini, Roosevelt, and their like are "great men." Creators and proponents of wars which result in the slaughter of millions to the end that questions basically economic can be settled by treaties—those are not great men; rather they are puny, insignificant, small men.

What would be our opinion of a business associate who used a gun to convince a customer that his product was worth purchasing? What would be more totally asinine than the ultimate murdering of a potential customer with that same gun? Are not we, the men and women who people this world, a vast community dependent upon the productive enterprise of one another? Is it not possible that we may some day realize that the standard of living of every people of the world is directly dependent upon the free and unhampered flow of goods thruout the world?

Let us have no more talk of "great men" until the day finally arrives when those men arise; men of world vision who see not a county, not a state, not an empire, but the whole world in its entirety; men who see all parts in relation to the whole, and who, seeing, arrive at sane and sensible conclusions and compromises as gentlemen.

Today your corner grocer who collects a bill and retains the good will of the customer, who placates an irate customer with a fresher bunch of carrots, or delivers a single pound of butter four hours after closing time is a smarter man, yes, a greater man than Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin, Hitler, or Mussolini. He succeeded; they have failed!

ROBERT KURT SMITH.

ANALOGY FROM FOOTBALL.

Glenview, Ill., Feb. 19.—It is inconsistent, to say the least, to argue that because Hitler has so far failed to send troops across the English channel, he could not send them to the western hemisphere. I seem to remember that Nebraska held Stanford for downs within the five yard line, but were scored on from almost midfield on the next play. It would also appear that if it is so ludicrous to imagine the axis could attack this country, one of the main arguments put forward by the opponents of the measure, how does Senator Vandenberg harmonize this idea with his statement in the senate yesterday that passage of the bill in its present form would invite "axis submarines into the Hudson, axis mines off Sandy Hook, and axis wings over New York."

ROY B. NORDHEIMER.

CREATURES OF DOOM.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Yesterday I asked 20 people what they thought about the United States getting into war. Not one wanted to get in, even to save England. Not one thought we would be able to stay out even if we wanted to. Something is happening to the minds of Americans. They are overcome with a deadly 1917 fatalism. They are paralyzed, stupefied, hypnotized by the thought that they are going to war even against their will. Who is dragging them? Who is casting the spell? Who holds the reins? Can't something be done to wake them up?

SPIRIT OF 1776.

WHY SHE FEEDS THE BIRDS.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—A. B. L. regrets that there are few wild birds around. I have seen only one pair of cardinals all winter. The wild birds are on hats. I have been feeding sparrows mostly. I read an article that a few years ago the sparrows destroyed millions of Japanese beetles. It is better to have sparrows than no birds at all. The reason I feed them is that I am sorry for them, hungry and cold. And they are cute and smart when you get to know them.

There is a small neighborhood park to which I go, and I drop bread in yards and along the streets where I hear birds chirping or know them to be. In selected spots where I found that many sparrows came and the bread was quickly eaten, I made what might be called feeding stations.

It is interesting how the sparrows seemingly appear from nowhere. They hide around buildings to keep warm and when food appears they pass the word along to others. I found that sparrows will not eat suet when there is bread to be had. There is no danger that rats will get the bread because I put it out in the daytime, in open places under trees inviting to the birds but where rats would be afraid to come. Anyhow the birds eat the bread up so quickly there is no danger.

BIRD LOVER.

AMENDMENT PROPOSED.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—May I suggest a constructive amendment to the lend-lease bill? This amendment would permit the President to lend or lease some new coaches to the Rapid Transit Lines. Most of the coaches now in use are old, wooden boxes that groan and creak from overcrowding.

The Logan Square and Oak Park branches which I ride twice daily, during rush hours crowd 150 or more people into each old, dilapidated coach.

A terrible tragedy is certain to occur from this situation. I am not fussy about what law they amend, whether it be a national, state, or local law, but in the interest of human life and safe traveling won't somebody do something about it?

LOU H. SAPERSTEIN.

SUBSTITUTE FOR JULY 4.

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 18.—Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays are but 10 days apart. Wouldn't it be a grand idea to celebrate both birthdays on the half way date, Feb. 17? Make it a national holiday. The southern states today are friendly to Lincoln's memory. He had malice toward none, and was really a friend.

Let us have a supercelebration on the common date for our two greatest Americans, and make it the one patriotic event of the year, something like 4th of July used to be.

FRANK EUGENE BUTLER.

HITLER'S SLY GAME.

Pontiac, Ill., Feb. 21.—Hitler had an object in view in requesting messages from America. He will get the names and addresses of Americans who are friendly to his country, so that he may set his thousands of fifth columnists to work recruiting them in the cause of Germany. Surely our government should take steps to stop the sending of all such messages. CHARLES PHILLIPS.

DOCTORS IN THE DRAFT.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Our newly trained physicians will be drafted and assigned to the regular everyday work of privates in the army under the provisions of the present draft bill. This will be a serious handicap to our hospitals and also deprive the public of needed physicians when so many doctors from private practice are taken by the army.

Designed for the correction of this and similar errors are the Murray-McCormack bills, H. R. 1058 and S. 4396, which will be up in committee shortly.

While we certainly do not want special treatment accorded to any one group, it seems that common sense, fairness, and the requirements of national health demand consideration and action on the matter. The flu epidemic of the last war serves to show where the public interest is involved. DON RAYMOND LEVERIDGE.

COLD WORM TURNS.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—For years I have been a silent sufferer. I refer to the service in the South Damen avenue streetcar line. To put it mildly, I am not a crab or a crank, but after spending over 20 minutes on a cold, wintry night waiting for a streetcar that is equally cold I feel justified in protesting. J. P. F.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

NATIONAL GUARD ACT.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a son, now 18, who joined the Illinois National Guard one year ago and he did it without my knowledge or consent. He gave his age as 19 at the time instead of 17. I have been trying to obtain his discharge but am informed by his officers that they "assume they have the parents' consent if no protest is made within four months of date of enlistment."

They also refuse to look at his birth certificate and have attempted to force him to sign a new enlistment paper, still showing that he was born Feb. 17, 1920. This, I heard one officer tell another, "will make him 21 when we go into camp Feb. 24th." His real date of birth was Feb. 17, 1922. He was also threatened with a charge of "fraudulent enlistment and three years in Leavenworth." Do they have the right to snatch boys out of high school and impress them into service? L. M.

The National Guard act of 1940 in Sec. 1 authorizes the President to order into active service any units "[except that any person in the National Guard of the United States under the age of 18 years, so ordered into the active military service shall be immediately issued an honorable discharge from the National Guard of the United States]."

Since your son is over 18 this wording would not apply in his favor even if the unit has been ordered into actual service, which point you do not cover. The Illinois act [Ill. Revised Statutes, Chap. 129, Sec. 117] says "Any able bodied man . . . between the ages of 16 and 45 . . . may be enlisted."

The article on "Militia" in 40 C. J. 683 says "Where the consent of the parent or guardian to the enlistment of a minor above the minimum age is not required, as under the national defense act, the enlistment, if otherwise regular, is valid and binding without such consent, even as against the parent or guardian."

WARFARE SPLITS C. I. O. OVER NEW COUNTY COUNCIL

Foes Assail Samuel Levin for Forming It.

Open warfare broke out yesterday in the ranks of Cook county union locals affiliated with the Congress of Industrial organizations.

The cause of the trouble is the new C. I. O. county industrial council, headed by Samuel Levin, school board member and chairman of the Chicago Joint Board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Levin is a longtime associate and friend of Sidney Hillman, C. I. O. vice president, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, and associate director of the office of production management, which is the national defense superagency.

County Council Chartered.

Levin was elected president of the new C. I. O. county council at its organization meeting last Tuesday. A charter was issued by the C. I. O. national officers on Thursday. Arthur J. Goldberg, who was chosen the council's attorney, said that Levin took the initiative in forming the council, with representatives of about 20 locals present, but that every local in the county has since been invited to join.

Organization of the council brought a protest on Saturday from Allen Glenn, organizer for the United Automobile Workers. He said that he had been elected last October as chairman of a committee to organize such a council and that the work was progressing when Levin's council was announced. Glenn said that the county council charter had been obtained by fraud, and that he would demand its revocation. The objectors thereupon called a meeting which was held yesterday in the Morrison hotel.

Claim 80 Per Cent Protest Act.

Delegates from 77 C. I. O. locals and 21 affiliated international unions attended. Spokesmen said this represented 80 per cent of the C. I. O. strength in Cook county, altho other C. I. O. leaders denied this. The number of locals and their membership in the county has never been made public.

The delegates chose a committee of five, headed by Glenn, to carry their protest to the national headquarters at Washington, D. C. Speakers said Levin had organized the council in an undemocratic manner and that their locals would not join, altho they insisted they would not break away from the C. I. O.

Tony Covarso of the Farm Equipment Workers union, a local of which is striking at the Chicago tractor works of the International Harvester company, charged that the striking local had been offered $500 as a bribe to join the council.

Charges Made by Others.

Other speakers charged that the council is principally composed of Amalgamated Clothing Workers' delegates.

Foes of the council objected before the meeting to Levin's statement that communists and bund members would be barred, asserting that this was intended as a reflection upon them. Attorney Goldberg said that the C. I. O. national organization is seeking to keep out communists and bund members and that Levin was merely reiterating the organization's policy.

Found Dead in Car

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

LELA J. DENNY.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 23 [Special].—A South Bend high school girl and a youth were found dead in a parked automobile shortly before noon today. The gasoline tank of the sedan was empty and the ignition switch on. Coroner T. C. Goraczewski said carbon monoxide killed the pair while they were locked in an embrace.

The girl was Lela J. Denny, 18 years old, a senior in Riley High school and a part time usher in a movie theater. The youth was Donald E. Wynn, 20. They last were seen alive at 9:30 o'clock last night in an ice cream parlor in downtown South Bend. Their bodies were found at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

State Highway Patrolman Ralph Akenhausen was driving in Miami road a mile south of South Bend when he saw Wynn's sedan in a lane adjoining a golf course. He investigated when he saw wheel tracks in the snow, which indicated the car had been in the lane since last night.

Ex-Convict Is Arrested; Revolver Found in Car

Otto Droukal, 47 years old, who said he lives at 100th street and Harlem avenue, in Worth, was arrested on suspicion last night as he sat in his parked car at Ashland avenue and 77th street. Detective James Stockover and a Gresham police squad found a .44 caliber revolver in the car. Droukal was sentenced to Joliet penitentiary in 1920 for murder, but was released the following year. In 1924 he was sentenced to the state prison at Lansing, Mich., for larceny and in 1933 served 30 days in the Bridewell for carrying concealed weapons.

WOMAN, HURT IN FALL, DIES.

Mrs. Lena Swanson, 70 years old, 6251 North Oakley avenue, died yesterday in Norwegian-American hospital of injuries suffered Feb. 6 in a fall in her home.

NAB WEST COAST BOMBING PLOT FIGURE FOR QUIZ

After Thomas E. Boyle, 34 years old, was taken into custody on suspicion yesterday for questioning by police, finger prints showed that he was arrested in San Francisco, Cal., in 1930 for transporting explosives. Boyle, who gave 426 South Clark street as his address, said he had been placed on five years' probation in San Francisco because he innocently transported explosives for dynamiters who were plotting to bomb a Spokane, Wash., newspaper. Police here held him for further questioning. The police said no charges had been filed against Boyle, and he was not identified at a crime showup.

CITY OFFICIALS IN LAKE FOREST ALL RESLATED

All city officers of Lake Forest were chosen yesterday at a caucus of citizens held in the home of former Mayor Francis E. Manierre to run for reelection April 8 in the city election. There is no primary in Lake Forest, and under a state law governing such conditions the nominating party must change its name each year. This time it will be known as the People's Regular party. There has been no election contest in Lake Forest since 1924, and the slate is expected to be unopposed again this year.

Those named are Richard H. Mabbatt, head of an investment house, for mayor; Keith Carpenter, Edward Lindenmeyer, Thomas Pester, and Eugene Seyl, for aldermen; Henry Rhode, for treasurer; William H. Harding, for marshal, and Roy S. Wells, who has held the post since 1918, for supervisor. Their petitions must be filed by March 4.

Aldermen receive no pay and other officers only $10 a year.

SKIDMORE FACES TRIAL TODAY IN INCOME TAX CASE

The government's long investigation into the income of William R. Skidmore, reputed fixer for the Chicago gambling syndicate, will culminate today when his trial begins before Judge Philip L. Sullivan in the United States District court. Skidmore is accused of evading payment of $505,767 in income taxes from 1933 thru 1938. The government is demanding a total of $822,484 in taxes and penalties in a separate civil action. It is expected that Judge Sullivan will have to rule on several preliminary motions by the defense before the selection of a jury is begun. J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, will make the government's opening statement.

FOUND DEAD IN STREET.

A man, tentatively identified as Norman Geger, about 45 years old, was found dead, apparently of a heart attack, last night in front of 751 North Dearborn street.

3 GIRLS, 4 BOYS IN AUTO DROWNED AFTER GAY PARTY

Driver Loses Way; Car Plunges Into River.

The accident, which took the lives of the seven and possibly an eighth person, followed a visit by the youths to a theater and taverns in Wisconsin. There were no witnesses to the accident, but William Bittner, bridge keeper, said the car was driven onto a side road which parallels the stream after the party paid the toll for crossing the river.

Turning off the bridge approach, the driver of the car followed the side road which turns sharply a short distance from the bridge and traverses the curve of the river bank. He failed to make the curve, bumped over railroad tracks and the car plunged 50 feet down the bank into 15 feet of water, stopping 100 feet from shore.

Sheriff Is Called.

Curious because the youths had taken the side road, Bittner called Sheriff Ulysses Eav. The sheriff's investigation revealed the route taken by the party and led to discovery of the tragedy.

When pulled from the water the car contained seven bodies. Doors were closed and a broken rear window and ripped top indicated that some of the victims had attempted to escape. A hat belonging to a fifth man was found on ice in the river. Sheriff Eay said he might have leaped from the car when it plunged into the water and that pressure of the water could have closed the door after him.

Bittner said the party, riding in a small sedan, reached the tollhouse at 2 a. m., bought a ticket and drove on. He noticed the car turning on the wrong road, but expected the mistake would be learned quickly. After two hours passed he called the sheriff.

Traces Party's Movement.

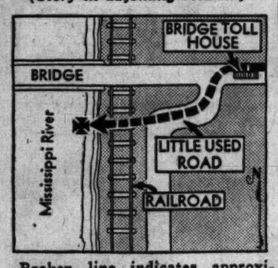
Undersheriff Duke Ziel traced movements of the party last night and learned that they had been in a movie theater and later visited several night spots. A bottle full of whisky was found in the car when it was dragged from the river.

The girls were Helen O'Brien, 15 years old, Vera Cannoe and Marguerite McMellan, both 17. All were residents of Rossville, Ia. The boys were Helmer Bakke, 18; Laverne Bakkum, 19; Vernon Swenson, 20, and Norval Roe, 20, all from Elon, Ia., where they worked on the farms of their fathers.

Clarence Sanderson, 25, also of Elon, is believed to have been the eighth victim. Friends say they saw him leave Waukon, Ia., a nearby town with the party and he was reported missing from home today.

Plunge to Death

(Story in adjoining column.)



Broken line indicates approximate path taken by auto in which at least seven were drowned. The auto left toll bridge, went down road and then bumped over railroad tracks into Mississippi river.

Arrow locates Prairie du Chien, Wis., where tragedy occurred.

SLAYING WITNESS MISSING FOR 2D MANGANO TRIAL

Acting State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley revealed yesterday that one of the state witnesses will be absent in March when Jerry Mangano goes to trial for the second time for slaying a park policeman on Nov. 20, 1939. Mangano was found guilty by a jury at his first trial, and sentenced to die, but the conviction was set aside by the Illinois Supreme court.

The witness, reported to be out of the country, is Mrs. Ruth Tessmer. Crowley said police reported that they understood Mrs. Tessmer had married and gone to South America to live and that it would take too long to seek her return. She was seated in an automobile with Theodore Nelson, a steam fitter, when Mangano and two companions attempted to rob them. Policeman Harry Francois interrupted the holdup and was shot thru the heart. Crowley said he did not believe the trial would be affected by her absence.

The second trial, which was to have begun today, was postponed because two prosecutors are absent and the defense lawyer is busy. Mangano's companions, Italo Begani and Joseph Russano, have been convicted and sent to the penitentiary.

Seize Sweetheart Cashing Loot; Bandit Confesses

Albert Siegle, 24 years old, of 1152 South Keeler avenue, confessed last night that he had robbed several south side beauty parlors. He admitted the crimes, police said, after his girl friend, Shirley Block, 18, of 136 South Lavergne avenue, was seized passing several checks taken in the holdups. Grand Crossing police said Siegle, who has been arrested in three other states and who was granted probation for one year last October by Judge Walter J. La Buy on a charge of burglary, may have robbed 50 beauty shops.

DIES OF MYSTERY INJURIES.

Edward J. Waddell, 28 years old, 3741 Cermak road, a railroad freight handler, died yesterday in St. Anthony's hospital of a skull fracture of undetermined origin. He was found Friday under a railroad viaduct in Lawndale avenue near 23d street.

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 23 [Special].—Mobile's Azalea Trail, annual lure of flower loving tourists, will be opened next Sunday with a civic ceremony.

Instead of having one queen as in other years the celebration this year will have two. They are twins, Rosemary and Joan Hallett, debutantes, 21 years old.

In previous years thousands of visitors have been drawn to Mobile to see the result of a 200 year voluntary planting program. Thousands of azalea bushes, some 30 feet high, line the 17 mile trail and provide a colorful scene with blossoms ranging from white to deep crimson.

The trail is arranged so that it may be observed from a passing automobile, but thousands tour magnificent gardens containing azaleas and other semitropical flowers. The season lasts from early March until mid-April.

ENDS LIFE WITH POISON.

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 23 [Special].—Roy W. Clem, 44, oil station attendant, died last night after drinking poison. He had been despondent over ill health.

SOLDIER KILLED, ANOTHER HURT BY HIT, RUN CAR

Thomas McHale Injured in Florida Crash.

A hit and run driver last night struck and killed one soldier and seriously injured another as they were walking with a companion on the sidewalk a quarter of a mile south of the main gate of Fort Sheridan, on Sheridan road. The car ran along the sidewalk for 180 feet before it turned into the road again and continued northward at high speed past the gate.

The soldier killed was Private Joseph F. Do Bos, 28 years old, attached to the school for bakers and cooks. Private Sherman A. Fulton, 24, of the same service, was taken to the hospital at Fort Sheridan suffering from concussion of the brain. The car brushed Sergt. Joseph L. Neubauer, 31, but did not injure him.

Thomas M. McHale Injured.

Thomas M. McHale, 72 years old, of 4300 Lake Shore drive, Chicago, retired vice president of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, incurred a possible skull fracture yesterday when his car crashed into a wall of rocks on the Tamiami trail, 54 miles west of Miami. His wife suffered a broken arm and cuts and bruises.

McHale, a former chairman of the board of directors of the Hawthorne race track, was also a former chairman of the Chicago Business Men's Racing association. He became affiliated with the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company in 1889 and remained with that firm thru his entire business career.

Car Plunges Into River.

A car driven by Howard Applegeese, 45 years old, of 2010 West 115th street, a grocer, plunged thru a wooden guard rail last night 100 feet south of 27th street on Ashland avenue, rolled down an embankment, and came to rest with part of the hood submerged in a slip of the south branch of the Chicago river.

Applegeese, unconscious, was dragged from the car by Joseph Brudnicki, 24, of 1443 14th place, and Richard Galinski, 18, 1354 14th street. The water covered only the floorboards of his car. At the county hospital it was found that he had severe cuts and possible internal injuries.

Applegeese, unconscious, was

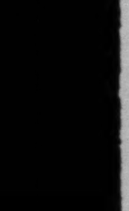
ROTARY'S WORLD SERVICE DEPICTED IN RADIO SHOW

W-G-N Program Observes 36th Anniversary.



Paul Harris.

The story of Rotary International, now a body of 210,000 men thruout the world united in a common devotion to service, was dramatized yesterday in a broadcast, "Humanity in Action," over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system.

The occasion was the 36th anniversary of the founding of Rotary, which started the night of Feb. 23, 1905, when four men gathered in the Chicago law office of Paul P. Harris. Besides Harris they were a coal dealer, a merchant tailor, and a mining engineer. All were lonely in Chicago and hoped to form a club composed of men from different businesses and professions.

Three years later their idea had spanned the world. Its name, "Rotary," had a simple derivation: the members rotated the meetings among their business places. Its objective, aside from that of tolerance and friendliness, which opened its ranks to all creeds and races, was service.

That service took varying forms. In Jamshedpur, India, it lay in the establishment of leprosy clinics; in Pennsylvania, the establishment of a home for delinquent boys.

The program was extended to an international audience thru the facilities of shortwave radio stations WGEO and WRUL. A series of international good will programs, "The Americas Speak," sponsored by Rotary, will begin next Sunday over W-G-N and the Mutual system.

DR. LOUISE KLEHM DIES AT AGE OF 70; RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Dr. A. Louise Klehm, 4724 North Sacramento avenue, a member of the staff of St. Francis hospital, Evanston, will be held at 3:15 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 8057 Niles Center road, Skokie, with burial in St. Peter's Evangelical cemetery. Dr. Klehm died Saturday in St. Francis. She was 70 years old.

Dr. Klehm was graduated from a nurses' training course at the Chicago Baptist hospital in 1896, and from the University of Illinois college of physicians and surgeons in 1902. She served her internership under Dr. Rachelle Yarros, and also studied in Vienna. For many years she practiced in Niles Center and vicinity, using a horse and buggy for transportation. During the Spanish-American war she was an army nurse.

Surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Emma Harrer, Mrs. Lydia Harms, Miss Alma Klehm, and Mrs. Florence Freund, and three brothers, Herbert Klehm of Washington, D. C.; Harold W. Klehm, Skokie village clerk, and Raymond Klehm, Niles township treasurer.

ASSAIL CHARGES THAT TEXTBOOKS HIT GOVERNMENT

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—A charge that a "substantial proportion" of social science textbooks in the nation's high schools belittled the American form of government drew angry rebuttals today from educators.

Their first answer was the formation of a committee of 10 social scientists by the American Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom to "combat the censorship threat inherent in the textbook investigation."

The accusation that many high school texts were unduly critical of democracy and held the system of free business enterprise "in derision or contempt" was made Friday by Dr. R. W. Robey, assistant professor of banking at Columbia university.

Dean Ned H. Dearborn of New York university, chairman of the American committee, said the committee did not question the right of laymen to suggest changes in schools, but that it was "apprehensive" of the use to which the survey abstracts might be put.

JAS. H. REYNOLDS DIES; AUTOMATIC TYPING PIONEER

Funeral services for James H. Reynolds, vice president in charge of sales of the Hooven Automatic Typewriter corporation, Hamilton, O., will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 810 North Clark street. Mr. Reynolds, born 53 years ago in Clarksville, Tenn., died Saturday in his home at 329 Belden avenue. He was a pioneer in the development of automatic typewriters, and had been prominent in the typewriter field for 25 years. Surviving are two sons, Lieut. James H. Reynolds Jr., U. S. A., ordnance corps, Washington, D. C., and Willis J. Reynolds, who was associated with his father in business; a sister, Mrs. Wylie T. Conway of San Francisco, and a brother, Col. John B. Reynolds, Chicago.

Widow and Ex-Wife Get Shares in McAdoo Estate

Santa Barbara, Cal., Feb. 23 (AP).—The late William Gibbs McAdoo left his estate to his widow, his former wife, and their children in equal shares. An exception was that a son, Francis, asked that his father's books and papers be willed to him in lieu of a share of the estate. The will, filed for probate yesterday, merely listed the value of the estate at more than $10,000. Beneficiaries are McAdoo's widow, Doris; his former wife, Eleanor, a daughter of President Woodrow Wilson; and his children, William Gibbs Jr., Mrs. Harriet Platt, Mrs. Nona Taylor, Mrs. Sally Hinshaw, and Mary Faith McAdoo.

INQUEST IN FIRE DEATH OF DOCTOR SET FOR TODAY

An inquest in the death of Dr. Hugh A. Rasmussen, a physician of Beardstown, Cass county, who died of burns and suffocation early yesterday in the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Oscar Rasmussen, at 800 South 17th avenue, Maywood, will be held today at 201 Lake street in the suburb. Lieut. E. C. Feldman of the Maywood police said a cigaret had set fire to an overstuffed chair in which the physician had fallen asleep. Mrs. Rasmussen was awakened by the smoke and she extinguished the flames and then summoned aid. Dr. Rasmussen's wife, Mary, was visiting in Chicago when the tragedy occurred. Dr. Rasmussen was 34 years old.

Two Bishops to Be Created at Rites Today

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Msgr. F. J. Magner.

Brotherhood Sunday services yesterday and unprecedented dual religious ceremonies today combine to give impetus to Chicago's spiritual preparations for the sober season of Lent, which begins Wednesday.

Today, in edifices little more than a block apart, holy rites will mark the creation of two new bishops—Catholic and Episcopal. In Holy Name cathedral, State and Superior streets, beginning at 9:45 a. m., the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Magner of St. Mary's church, Evanston, will be elevated to the Catholic episcopate as bishop of Marquette, Mich. In St. James' church, Wabash avenue and Huron street, starting at 10:15 a. m., the Rev. Dr. Wallace Edmonds Conkling of Philadelphia will be consecrated the sixth Episcopal bishop of Chicago.

Many Catholic prelates, including 46 members of the Catholic hierarchy in America, arrived yesterday for the elevation of Msgr. Magner. Many of them attended a Knights of Columbus banquet last night in the Palmer House honoring Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch, who will be chief consecrator of Bishop-elect Magner. The dinner was held in connection with yesterday's exemplification of the fourth, or patriotic degree, of the Knights of Columbus.

Dinner guests included the Rev. James A. Magner of the faculty of Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., brother of Bishop-elect Magner. He is founder and director of the Charles Carroll forum and a former member of the faculty of Quigley Preparatory seminary. Father Magner will be deacon of the consecration mass at his brother's elevation to the episcopate.

About 1,500 members of the Knights of Columbus attended the dinner. Bishop James A. Griffin of Springfield, chaplain of the order, responded to Archbishop Stritch's plea for Catholic action and love of country. The class of 267 initiates into the fourth degree was inducted by Joseph A. McMahon, master of the degree for northern Illinois.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. C. F. Conley of Freeport and George Lynch, retired captain of the Austin police, were among the initiates. Other speakers at the dinner included Michael J. Howlett, supreme director of the order, and Judge John F. Bolton of the Superior court.

Dr. Conkling, Episcopal bishop-elect, was in spiritual retreat yesterday in his new home at 2864 Sheridan place, Evanston. Clergy of the Episcopal diocese each spent at least an hour in special devotions preparatory to today's consecration ceremonies. Laity of the diocese were urged to say special prayers for the bishop-elect.

The Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker of New York, Episcopal bishop of Virginia and presiding bishop of the American Episcopal church, arrived in Chicago yesterday to preside at Dr. Conkling's consecration. The long procession of representatives of civic and educational institutions, lay organizations, seminary students, visiting and local clergy and bishops will form in St. James' parish house and begin moving into St. James' church at 10:20 a. m. Admission will be by ticket until 10:15 a. m., when the doors will be open to all.

After the consecration a luncheon in honor of the new Episcopal bishop and visiting guests will be held at the Lake Shore club. A reception in his honor will be held in St. James' church at 8 p. m.

After Bishop-elect Magner's consecration at Holy Name cathedral a luncheon in his honor will be held in the Drake hotel.

Several Chicago rabbis occupied Christian pulpits yesterday as Brotherhood Sunday marked the second day of the observance of Brotherhood week by the city's many races and creeds. Thruout the week ceremonies will stress the need for forgetting racial and religious differences and uniting under the American traditions of religious freedom, tolerance and respect.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

Popping into the bathtub, scrubbing vigorously for a few minutes, and popping out again is the kind of a bath with which most of us start our day. It accomplishes the primary purpose of cleansing, of course, but there's nothing very frilly about it.

For the most part, it's the leisurely bath that is the luxury bath, involving time and trimmings. But even the hurry-up bath can be taken in softened, perfumed water, and this compensates somewhat for the haste with which it has to be taken.

We don't know of a better way to tinge the average cleansing rite with a shade of luxury than to toss in, with a generous hand, a fine water softener. There's an excellent one, in the form of fine crystals that dissolve quickly and completely. The ingredients are nonirritating, and the softened water soothes the skin.

One can afford to be lavish when pouring them into the tub, for they come packaged in a five pound cloth bag at a small price. Use it not only for the bath, but for the shampoo and for laundering lingerie. Keep a small jar of them handy and add them to the water when you wash your hands.

And, the crystals are scented. You can have them in apple blossom, gardenia, carnation, lilac, lavender, pine, and in a bouquet.

British Indies Attract Scores of Chicagoans

BY JUDITH CASS.

JAMAICA'S first visitors from overseas arrived in the snub-nosed caravels of Columbus' fleet. Today silver planes wing over the waters from Miami in just five hours, but the lure of the past still is strong, and draws scores of Chicagoans to the British West Indies each season.

While winter winds blow in Chicago, the Gilbert Hill Robinsons are enjoying "the doctor," a temperate south wind which natives have learned to expect at 10 o'clock each morning in Jamaica. The Robinsons flew over from Miami for their first look at Jamaica's white sand beaches. They will return to Chicago about March 4, just a few days after the Sewall Gardners [Shirley Keith] have come home from a Jamaica wedding trip.

Farwell Party Tells of Island's Beauty.

Mrs. William S. Elliott and Mrs. Harry C. Edmonds of Winnetka have arrived at Good Hope for a winter holiday. The Arthur L. Farwells and Mr. Farwell's sister, Mrs. E. Ogden Ketting, brought back glowing accounts of Jamaica's quaint beauty when they returned a few days ago from the Hope ranch at Good Hope. They just missed crossing paths with Dr. and Mrs. Paul Magnuson, whose sightseeing of the turtle marts and old highways lined with cotton trees will extend well into March.

For the sports minded Jamaica offers golf, tennis, and race meets. Golf week at the Liguanea Golf club at Kingston opens on March 8, and the club's tennis tournament will be in progress by the following week.

Nassau, too, is attracting its quota of Chicago visitors this winter. The Ansel M. Kinneys left their car at Miami recently to fly over to the Bahamas on a three weeks' holiday. The current itinerary of the junior Robert F. Carrs is virtually the same, except that they went by train to Miami before catching a Nassau bound plane. They will be at home next Monday.

Others Plan Easter Visits to Nassau.

The rigors of a Winnetka winter are being forgotten temporarily by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carson Pirie Jr., who will remain in Nassau until next Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Owen Barton Jones, who are confirmed "boosters" of Nassau, are postponing their annual winter trip until around Easter, so that their children, David and Barbara, can accompany them. Meantime the whole Jones family is enjoying the badminton court and gymnasium equipment in the new recreation building just completed on their property in Lake Forest. Miss Grace Shumway is another Lake Forester with a Nassau trip highlighting her Easter vacation plans.

The Jerome Robert Cernys visited Cuba during their southern holiday. They went to Florida by motor, and are expected at home on Wednesday.

The John L. Clarksons completed plans for a cruise to the Caribbean next month and then Mrs. Clarkson was taken to the Presbyterian hospital for an operation. They expect to be able to make the trip, however, for Mrs. Clarkson, who returned home last week, is well on the road to recovery.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine Recovering from Illness.

Good news to Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine's friends is the report that she is recovering nicely from an illness which has kept her confined to her home on Lake Shore drive. An inveterate traveler, Mrs. Valentine has given up plans for her annual winter trip and will remain in Chicago this season.

Also on the "sick list" is Mrs. W. Edwin Stanley Sr., who is recuperating from an operation in St. Luke's hospital.

The Curtis Munsons will be back in Chicago today after a quail-shooting trip to Alabama. The Munsons visited the Edward J. Berminghams, who have a plantation in Alabama. Miss Frances Munson, who has been visiting in the east, returned to Chicago on last Friday.

France Forever Group to Give Tea Today.

A tea today at the Drake hotel, the first of two the France Forever committee is giving, promises to be an especially interesting meeting. It will be held at 3:15 o'clock with Clifton Utley opening the program in the Camellia house.

Eugene J. Houdry and Fred G. Hoffherr, New Yorkers who founded the movement in America, will speak. Marcy Westcott, musical comedy star who will sing French chansons, will be a guest at the table of her aunt, Mme. Hanna Butler. France Forever jeweled pins and tricolored boutonnieres of fresh flowers will be on sale.

Ruth Gourlay, composer-pianist, and Robert W. Kessler, tenor, will present this morning's program of the American Opera society, to be given at 11 o'clock in the Arts club. Many of the guests are planning to remain at the club for luncheon.

A literary tea which Mrs. Clarence Hough had planned for today has been postponed to next Monday and will be given at 2:30 o'clock in Miss Elena Moneak's studio at 675 North Michigan avenue. Mrs. Hough will review "The Voyage," by Charles Morgan.

Miss Blankenbuehler was graduated from Bethany college and attended the University of Minnesota. Her fiancé was graduated from Luther institute and attended the University of Minnesota. New Roy Harris Work Is Played by U. of C. Band

BY CECIL SMITH.

"Cimarron," a tone poem for band by Roy Harris, received its first performance anywhere at a concert of the University of Chicago band, Harold Bachman, conductor, in Mandel hall yesterday afternoon. The concert was a feature of the university's 50th anniversary celebration, and the composer wrote his tone poem for the university band.

While Mr. Harris has won sustained attention from the public for his adventures in the realm of symphonic composition, he had never before attempted a work in the more popular idiom of the band. "Cimarron" suggests the scenario of the moving picture of the same title.

The score begins with a quiet section intended to depict "nature undisturbed by man." The firing of a very loud gun shortly sends the pioneers scurrying in six-eight time out across Oklahoma to stake out desirable claims. The work closes with what Mr. Harris calls "a steady, sonorous, idealistic march representing the progress of pioneering toward an organized society."

"Cimarron" sheds important light upon the merits and shortcomings of Mr. Harris' work as a whole. Quite rightfully hailed in many quarters as the possessor of exceptional native musical gifts, he has seldom been taken to task properly for his failure to discipline himself in the basic techniques of composition. "Cimarron" again repeats the phenomenon so apparent in his "American Creed" [written for the Chicago Symphony orchestra last fall] and his Third Symphony—the presentation of intrinsically good ideas which are seldom developed with logic or with true continuity.

"Cimarron" has good thematic material, but its workmanship is scrappy and puerile, and the composer systematically finds ways and means of evading all the more difficult problems of musical composition. When Mr. Harris finds the means to express and develop his musical ideas adequately he may become the "great American composer," but until now he has never fully accepted the responsibility for technical study which devolves upon any musician of his innate creative gifts.

Advertising Women Hear Government's Food Expert Today

Miss Mary I. Barber, president of the American Dietetic association, who recently was loaned to the government as a "dollar a year" woman to serve as food consultant to the quartermaster supply division, will be the principal speaker at a "consumers' information" luncheon sponsored jointly at noon today by the Women's Advertising Club of Chicago and the Chicago Federated Advertising club in coöperation with leading women's organizations. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Sherman. Miss Mercedes Hurst, vice president of the Advertising Federation of America, will be toastmistress. Miss Georgia Rawson has arranged the program.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Twenty-one years ago last December, in the Auditorium theater, Tito Schipa made his American debut, singing the Duke in "Rigoletto" opposite Amelita Galli-Curci. Yesterday afternoon, in the same house, he made the most recent of the scores—probably hundreds—of appearances which Chicago has since demanded of him, and proved that the essentials of his greatness are the same as on the day of his debut.

In a program which consisted mostly of songs and operatic excerpts from the Italian and French repertoires, the great Italian tenor gave one example after another of that peculiarly creative quality that marks his work. He obviously believed wholeheartedly in what he was doing, and this sincerity and this deep absorption resulted again and again in flashes of insight which transformed the familiar and opened up new worlds of delight.

For example, a phrase which was going its accustomed way would suddenly be glorified by a tiny rubato or a more than usually ravishing tone quality, indicating that the singer, probably in the heat of song, had hit upon some new and hitherto unsuspected meaning in the music. His excitement in what he had found would be contagious, and the result would be another of those violent Schipa demonstrations.

Yesterday's listeners had many opportunities for such demonstrations. They were delighted by the exquisite flexibility and the every moment aliveness of the singing by its frequent fieriness, and by that wonderful Schipa pianissimo in which sound and silence all but meet.

Shouted suggestions [for encores] from the house gave the affair the informal air of a Grant park summer concert. Schipa's smiles and general affability strengthened this aspect of the recital. He has never made the mistake of believing that a haughty, dead pan stage air is a requisite for dignity.

Franz Pfau's accompaniments were so good that you hardly noticed them. His work and that of the singer made an artistic unit.

The Schipa recital was the final event in this season's History and Enjoyment of Music series.

The Chicago Swedish Glee club, Harry T. Carlson, conductor, gave a concert in Orchestra hall yesterday. In a program consisting largely of Scandinavian music the club proved that it has thrown off entirely that excessive virility which is the curse of so many male singing groups. Its tone can, when desirable, be as light and pure as whipped cream. And it can thunder with the best of them when the music requires thundering.

Who Is This Girl?

By Helen Topping Miller

[Copyright 1941: By Helen Topping Miller.]

SYNOPSIS.

Dan McCullough, manager of the ranch, San Mateo, falls in love with beautiful 20 year old Storm Greenlee, who is introduced to him as Harp Greenlee's niece. Harp, owner of San Mateo, has had a bad reputation with woman, and Mac knows he has no sisters or brothers. Determined to have it out with him as to Storm's identity, Mac goes to Harp's apartment and finds Harp dead. Storm tells Mac she herself doesn't know her real name, as Harp placed her in a convent when she was a small child, after her mother died, and had promised to tell her who she was when she was 21. He had only recently taken her from the convent. When Steele Dunlap, Harp's lawyer, tells Storm that Harp left her San Mateo and a locked tin box without a key, he hints that it was Harp's way of paying off his women. Infuriated, Storm goes back to the convent, but Humphrey Dane, a life-long enemy of Harp's, arrives and furnishes proof that he is Storm's father. Storm leaves the convent with him and goes to his ranch to live. As her guardian, he immediately takes over San Mateo. Dunlap is working with him, and Mac realises that Harp has been double-crossed. Storm tells him she is afraid of Dane and begs him to stay on at San Mateo. He agrees for her sake, but doesn't understand why Dane and Dunlap want him to stay, until he finds that Dane's men have been stealing sheep from San Mateo and want to hold him responsible for the loss. Mac also finds his room has been ransacked. Gertrude, one of Harp's girl friends, shows up and claims to have been Harp's common-law wife.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

AN ANSWERED WIRE.

"Maybe, Mr. McCullough, you won't be in charge after Monday." Gertrude lifted her tinted eyebrows slyly. "A lot of things can happen—and some of them might not be nice, Mac—if you don't play pretty."

"It doesn't matter what happens to me. But listen, Gertrude, you stay away from that girl, you hear? If I hear of you annoying her——"

"What'll you do?" she asked with a sneer. "Mac, you're a nice boy. But you do get too big for your overalls. Harp ought to have smacked you around some and taken the conceit out of you."

"I'll have a car around here in a few minutes. Is that your bag? You were pretty certain you were going to camp here, weren't you?"

"I'm still certain. The day's just postponed, that's all."

"Thank the Lord," Mac told Plume later, when he had taken Gertrude back into town and returned, "this is Hump Dane's trouble, and not mine! Let Steele worry about Gertrude. He's crooked enough to figure out a way to steal San Mateo—now let him devise some way to save it from Gertrude. But I'm going to do a little checking up on my own. There may be something in Gertrude's past that won't look too well, dragged out in court. In fact, I wouldn't be surprised if there were several things she'd rather have forgotten."

"Sun's coming out," Plume sighed, looking toward the west, where the day was ending in a wash of orange fire. "Be a warm day tomorrow. And it's Sunday. Can't nothing legal happen on Sunday."

"The next day is Monday," Mac reminded him, "and plenty can happen."

The sun shone, high and ardent, on Sunday and the snow disappeared on all the south slopes. Mom went about, moodily, keeping her eyes averted, speaking in monosyllables. The doctor came and dressed Lank's wound again, and the house was quiet and pleasant with the Sunday smell of roasting lamb.

In the afternoon Mac mounted the dun and rode off into the hills towards the breaks of the river. He rode for an hour, past the ragged scarp where he had sat and talked with Storm, past the fence at Dane's line where the truck with the calves had gone thru, but there was no sign of a painted palomino horse, not a sign of Storm.

They were keeping her close, keeping her away from him, he suspected. And there a sick, heavy foreboding turned Mac's heart bitter.

He had seen Steele Dunlap look at her when she walked thru the room. Steele knew too much. His power over Dane was bound to be something to reckon with. It would fall nicely into the pattern of what had happened already, if Dane put pressure on Storm, tried to persuade her to marry Steele Dunlap. Steele was suave and smooth and unscrupulous, but he had a certain attractiveness, too.

Mac conquered a mad impulse to ride across that boundary, that for so many years had been a hostile barrier dividing two hates, and snatch the girl out of that den of smiling wolves. It was a fantastic and mad idea, but it stayed in his mind, all the way back to San Mateo. If he could see Storm alone—it he could break down that cool, judging wall of hurt she had built up against him—there had been an hour in New York when she had turned to him, when she had been yielding and moved, when she had known that he loved her—and he, like a fool, had destroyed that precious moment. Now she was lonely and frightened and bereft, now—given an opportunity, she might listen. She had begged him to stay at San Mateo. That was something. He comforted himself with that thought as he rode back thru the twilight, bracing himself against the tomorrow that might be a day of crises.

That night Beatrice Abney came.

"I took a plane as soon as I had your wire, Mac," she said, "but the train was slow from El Paso and I didn't know where to find Francis, so I came here. How is he?"

"I saw him Friday and he was feeling like himself again. I've been too busy to ride over since. But he's rather a pathetic figure—I'm afraid you're going to be shocked when you see him, when you see how he's been living."

"It doesn't matter, Mac—I did try to get over Francis, but it was no use. You knew, when you talked to me in New York, that it was no use, didn't you? That's why you sent me that telegram."

"Not entirely, altho that was part of it. But on the night he was delirious, I stayed with him and he kept calling for you. He kept repeating that he knew you'd come, that you'd stand by. I decided that there might be something worth saving—and only you can save it, Mrs. Abney."

"Could we go tonight, Mac? I've come so far—I left my work, I left everything—" her face was tense and pale with weariness and strain. Mom had taken one look at her and began her motherly bustle immediately with the faithful coffee pot.

"I don't know whether a car could get thru on that road or not. We've had snow and it will be pretty muddy. It's a seldom used road and not kept up."

"If she can ride a horse she can borrow my pants," offered Mom, "but you know she couldn't stay at that house of Abney's, Mac."

"Is it so bad?"

"It's a pigpen, if you ask me!" Mom was brusque and brutal. "You can come back here and sleep. We'll fix a bed. Anyway, you ain't married to Abney any more, are you? It wouldn't be right for you to stay there no way."

"No, I'm not married to him now. Only my heart is still married to Francis. But you can't do much about a heart, can you, Mrs. Terrell?"

"Women can't. It's a rotten joke the Lord played on 'em, too. Giving 'em sense and then putting a lot of soft spots in their heads, so sense can't do 'em any good whatever."

"I rode in France two years ago. I think perhaps I could stay on a horse."

"My breeches will go round twice, but maybe we can fix 'em up with safety pins. She could ride the mare, Mac. She goes quiet."

But when Mac had saddled up and was waiting by the kitchen door, Mom came out, her apron over her head.

"Mac, what are you going to do if you find him drunk and crazy? Looks like a risk to me. Couldn't you go over and fetch him over here?"

"I could. But he might refuse to come. I'll risk it, Mom. And I can't wait till morning. I'm seeing Dane in the morning. Everything is coming to a head then."

"Thank the Lord!" muttered Mom. "We could use a head or two around this place!"

Beatrice Abney, laughing at her own slim body pinned into Mom's huge riding outfit, was helped into the saddle by Plume. Plume had saddled his own horse, a nervous gray, for Mac.

"He ain't been out today. And the dun was kind o' warm. I put a blanket on him to cool him out slow. Don't pull his head, Mac, and he'll go steady."

They crossed the pasture, the mare seeming to sense that special things were required of her and walking quietly beside the twitching gray. Mac was thinking, dryly, that he had spent more time in the saddle these last four days than in all the years he had worked on San Mateo. He had ridden this trail over the ridge so many times that he knew every nook and turning.

At the road, he got down to open the gate, and the mare minced thru carefully.

"This is awfully good of you, Mac," Beatrice said, as they followed the muddy track. "I know you have other things on your mind now, too. What's going to become of all that Harp owned out here? And that little girl—the one with bright hair—was she found?"

Mac told her what had happened, the soft feet of the horses punctuating his sentences, the clink of iron shoes on rock setting the periods.

Beatrice said, "You're still in love with her, aren't you, Mac?"

"I'm still in love with her," he said, wearily. "I've seen her once. Now—I suppose Dane will poison her mind against me, if he can. And Dunlap is here."

"Steele gets around, doesn't he? Wherever there's an advantage for him. Harp trusted Steele too much."

"Any one who trusts Steele Dunlap at all, trusts him too much."

Numerology

Feb. 24, 1941.

Universal day—There is snap and sparkle to ideas today so keep alert, especially if your personal chart lists this as a five day for you.

March—The coming month is the beginning of a new year in the realm of seasons, but according to the combination of numbers this year it is a nine month universally, so it marks the end of many things. As was pointed out in the forecast for February, it was to be an important month when "those in high places" will need judgment in making decisions and we "may expect conferences and meetings among international figures who have the affairs of the world in their hands." Those who had an eight month in February can check up on their own experiences. [Add the month two to the number of your personal year as given in your chart.]

Good Morning!

This French movie is based on a story by Selma Lagerlof, Nobel prize winner. . . . She wove her tale about an old Brittany legend of a phantom wagon driven by a lost soul that collects the dead and delivers them at the seat of judgment. . . . Each New Year's eve the driver changes, the latest one being he who has died on the last stroke of midnight.

There are no light moments in this opus. It's a study of defeatism, crayoned in grays and blacks. . . . It's atmospheric, intelligent—and terribly depressing.

Opening scenes occur around a Salvation Army traveling soup kitchen, where you meet a terrified old woman who hears the creaking of an approaching wagon. . . . Georges, cynic and shirker, doesn't believe in much but he does credit the legend—fearfully and unwillingly, and sympathizes with the poor creature.

From here on you follow him, his companions, David and Gustave, thru drab and sickening adventures. . . . Blooming like a lily in all the tenement squalor of the narrative's locale is Sister Edith of the Salvation Army, whose efforts to reform David work havoc with heart and health. . . . Very lovely and a clever actress, this Micheline Francey who plays Sister Edith!

Julien Duvivier is a French actor of note and has handled the direction most admirably. He also adapted Miss Lagerlof's work to the screen. Smart chap! All characterizations are in the hands of experts.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 23.—Sunday—A morning at the desk, and in the afternoon to Producer R. Sisk's, and Bob tells of plans for his Ginger Rogers film, "Tom, Dick, and Harry." To Edgar Selwyn's for dinner, and Edwin Knopf there. He says his new picture, "The Trial of Mary Dugan," cost only $261,000—and a good bargain it is.

Monday—There being a brief respite from the rain, some golf is in order, and I draw Joe Gordon, Yankee second baseman, as an opponent. Joe's drives are the longest I ever saw.

Tuesday—In the evening to see "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," a human, believable little picture, and very much impressed by the singing debut of Kathryn Grayson.

Wednesday—To Pathe to watch the start of the Rogers flicker. The camera opens on a couple of hundred faces in a movie theater audience, then moves in on a crane and picks up Miss Rogers and George Murphy. It catches them just as they are about to leave [the newsreel starts and they've seen it], and it follows them out and up the aisle. On the sound track is heard the voice of Hitler; George and Ginger stop, turn screenward, and hiss. Garson Kanin had a time getting this one past the Hays office. Finally Kanin asked, "How will it sound to say the Hays office wouldn't allow a picture of a couple of people hissing Hitler?" That won.

Thursday—To Metro for a call around the lot, and to report on it later in the day. Spencer Tracy seems fearful of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"—but he's always that way, never being cocksure, which is why he's one of the top actors. . . . Charlie Grayson reveals that he's working on a story called "Underground" for Warners'. It's about the anti-Nazi broadcaster who works from a portable station in Germany, and Philip Dorn will have the rôle.

Friday—To Republic for a talk with Head Man Herbert J. Yates, who's a remarkable fellow. . . . In the evening to Universal to see Deanna Durbin's "Nice Girl?" and to me it is an infuriating, badly cut, uninspired mess which wastes the talents of Robert Benchley, Franchot Tone, and lovely Miss Durbin herself.

Saturday—To Palm Springs in an effort—probably fruitless—to dodge perpetual rain.

Front Views and Profiles

Jacques Gordon.

The appearance of Jacques Gordon as guest conductor of the Illinois Symphony orchestra this evening at the Great Northern theater brings to mind a story of more than a decade ago when Gordon, then popular concert-master of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, was the central figure in a unique experiment.

A national periodical printed a statement to the effect that the great musicians of the day were recognizable only in their own orbits and that the public would not know them in unexpected surroundings. The late Karleton Hackett persuaded Gordon to put the statement to test. Disguised as a blind beggar, Gordon took up his stand in front of the Fine Arts building and played from the classics on his valuable Stradivarius. Not only was he not recognized by the many musicians who have studios in the building, but he did not collect a penny. He did better in front of the public library, tho. He played 20 minutes and collected $4, which is higher than the union scale.

Bird Dog.

A woman with a black and white spotted dog on a leash was talking to a very little boy. "No, he really doesn't fly," she was saying. "He just chases birds."

Sea Shells.

Sea shells had no place in our own life until a recent visit to Sanibel Island, the shell collector's paradise off the west coast of Florida. There we wandered along the glistening white shore and picked up a bucketful of shells—little rose-pink and yellow and lavender cockle shells and scallops, orange and brown conchs, brown spotted alphabet cones, pale and fragile paper fig shells, limp little starfish, and the toothed and frilled murex. Then the other day we saw, in a loop department store, a wonderful shell exhibit, boxes and picture frames, and mirrors and vases adorned with shells, some lovely old shell prints, shells of antique china, and a handsome pale pink antique dessert service adorned with shell pictures. Then, too, this week there appeared in a national weekly an article on the sea shells from Sanibel Island. For a time, at least, sea shells have become a part of our life, and a cabinet once relegated to the storeroom has found its place in a bedroom alcove, to hold the Sanibel Island sea shells.

Sanibel Island is less than 14 miles long and is four miles across at its widest point. The glistening white sand road that winds between tropical underbrush connects it by a bridge to smaller Captiva Island, six miles long and varying in width from a mile to a fourth of a mile. If it's the quiet life you want, try visiting them. Finding sea shells and fishing are the diversions. A good sunset is a signal for the cottagers to come down to the beach again to admire it. During the day, and particularly after the tide is out, island visitors always walk or stand with head down, looking for shells. It's the Sanibel Island stance.

The shell has for centuries offered a decorative motif of beauty. The Cellini cup in the Metropolitan museum, valued at a million dollars, is a gold scallop shell with enameled designs on the ribs of the scallop. Chippendale furniture has the scallop shell motif on the legs and backs of chairs; Rembrandt made an etching of a cone shell. Architects and sculptors have always used the shell design. Remember Botticelli's The Birth of Venus, in which Venus rides the waves in a scallop shell, blown by the zephyrs?

Contemporary artists, such as Pierre Roy, also paint the sea shell. Shell designs appear in needlework, too, and a backgammon board we covet is in needlepoint, with sea shells and sea horses adorning the points of the board markings.

Book Exhibition Traces Legend of King Arthur

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

An exhibition of rare books from the Newberry library's famed collection on King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table has been opened in the library at 60 West Walton street. It is the first exhibition of its kind in the country and traces the origin and development of the legend from the 13th to the 20th centuries. According to Miss Jane Harding, reference librarian who has arranged the exhibition, the Arthurian room will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, except Sundays, until May 1.

The famed Newberry collection, now 1,600 books, was started nine years ago with the purchase of 230 volumes gathered and owned by Eduardo de Laiglesia of Madrid. It contains original manuscripts, fine examples of old printing and text valuable to Arthurian scholars. It is enhanced by a collection of photographs of Arthurian works of art loaned to the Newberry by the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

The collection reveals that most historians now admit that there was a historical Arthur who lived in England in the early part of the sixth century. He arose to become the war leader of the Britons, the ancestors of the Welsh. For a time he checked the Anglo-Saxon conquest.

This is the sole core of credible fact in the vast mass of tradition concerning King Arthur and his Round Table. Despite it, Geoffrey of Monmouth, a Welsh cleric, used the renown of Arthur created by Breton bards to fabricate a history of Britain which had enormous influence on the historical thought of the middle ages.

A copy of Geoffrey's book, a first edition printed by Badius Ascensius in Paris in 1508, is on display in the exhibition. There is also a first edition of the "Prophecies of Merlin," King Arthur's court magician and bard, written about 1136 and later incorporated with Geoffrey's book.

An interesting description of the origin of the Round Table is found in "Layamon's Brut, or Chronicle of Britain," published in 1847. Layamon relates how at a Yuletide feast where were assembled seven kings and 700 knights, a quarrel arose about precedence. As a result Arthur had made a table at which 1,600 men could sit without one being more exalted in place than the other.

Rarest of all the volumes in the collection is that of "Launcelot du Lac," an original manuscript attributed to two scribes in the 13th to 14th centuries. It is one of the few Arthurian manuscripts in American libraries and deals with the story of Launcelot and his love for Queen Guinevere, Arthur's wife. There is also a rare "du Lac," Vol. 2, printed at Paris in 1488 by Jean du Pre.

The first English printing of the Arthurian legend and probably the most important, since it infused new life into the cycle and became an inspiration to poets, is "Morte d'Arthur," by Sir Thomas Malory, published by William Caxton in 1485. The exhibition includes a reprint of this edition.

Crocheted Flower Afghan

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

For those who desire that touch of "utter femininity" in crocheted afghans, the tiny flower design which creates this good looking cover is the ideal selection. The flowers are made individually and joined with a simple stitch. They are made of light weight wools and may be of various shades or all one color.

For instructions for crocheting the flower afghan, No. 184, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth, avenue, New York City.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the three of spades. Declarer properly played dummy's queen, but when this held the trick, he promptly proved that he did not know why he had played it. At the second trick he took the ace of clubs and followed it with a club finesse. East won with the queen and returned a spade. From then on it was all up with declarer. He could cash eight tricks, but could not develop a ninth against correct defense. West would take the rest of his spades.

Declarer had missed the point of the hand. The club suit would not be sufficient for his contract unless the finesse were successful, but there was no reason to stake everything on the club suit; an extra trick could be developed in hearts at no risk.

Declarer should have led a low heart from the dummy at the second trick. On South's finesse of the eight spot, West would win with the king. To lead back a spade would give South an extra trick in that suit. A club or a diamond would give declarer no problem and a heart would merely take declarer's finesse.

Declarer could therefore take a second heart finesse in perfect safety and then would be able to start on the club suit. Thus he would make three club tricks and at least two tricks in each of the other suits.

We have learned a great deal about contract bridge in the last five years. It must be remembered that this is a comparatively new game, only about 12 years old, hence it was only natural that the theories and practices that were good enough at the beginning would have to give way to new ideas based on experience.

Take the matter of "holding the bidding open," for example. Just a few years ago, when South opened with one spade and North held something like if he were a certain type of player, made a "courtesy" response of one no trump, and then prayed that he would escape the avalanche. Usually, he didn't! Of course, if he followed the Culbertson system, he passed with such miserable holdings, but even in our system, he was permitted to bid a negative no trump, or give a one over one response on an extremely meager honor trick holding. During the last several years almost all experts, and notably myself and associates, have come to the conclusion that we were responding too lightly. As a result, I have established in the new Culbertson system an entirely new set of requirements for minimum responses. Tomorrow, I will explain this matter in detail.

Cream puffs are tricky. If they aren't mixed and baked correctly they'll collapse as soon as they come out of the oven. And what is sadder looking than a flattened cream puff?

Steam is the leavening agent and produces the cavity in the middle of the cream puff. Eggs provide a framework for the puff itself.

CREAM PUFFS.

1 cup boiling water
½ cup butter
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted flour
4 eggs

Add butter to boiling water in a saucepan over direct heat. Then dump in salt and flour all at once and stir vigorously until the mixture leaves the sides of the pan in a compact mass. Remove from heat. Add eggs one at a time and beat vigorously after each. Continue beating with a good deal of "elbow grease" until batter is smooth and unlumpy. The batter should be stiff enough to hold shape when dropped from a spoon or pastry tube. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet. Pop the puffs into a 450 degree oven and let them bake for 15 minutes; then reduce the heat to 375 degrees and continue the baking for 25 minutes longer. The longer baking at a lower temperature serves to dry the puffs inside after they have swelled. Cool the baked puffs, make a cut in the side of each, and force in filling with a pastry tube. Sweetened and flavored whipped cream or cream filling may be used.

Eclairs are cream puffs shaped into oblongs before baking. After they are filled they often are frosted with a plain chocolate icing.

CREAM PUFF FILLING.

[For 1 dozen puffs.]
½ cup sugar
⅓ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, flour, and salt in the top of a double boiler. Add milk and slightly beaten egg yolks. Mix thoroly and cook over boiling water 10 minutes, or until thickened, stirring constantly. Continue cooking a few minutes longer if there is any starchy taste left in the filling. Sometimes it takes 15 to 20 minutes to cook thoroly flour in a filling. Cool and add flavoring. Fill puffs.

ECLAIR FROSTING.

[For 1 dozen.]
1¼ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 unbeaten egg white
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 square chocolate, melted

Add confectioners' sugar gradually to egg white, beating until smooth. Add vanilla and chocolate and beat until well blended.

Dinner Dresses of Lace Retain That Old Allure

BY REA SEEGER.

Lace has an eternal lure for most women, young and not so young. There's something inimitably feminine to lace that no other material used for dresses ever achieves. It clings caressively to the figure lines in suave dinner gowns or floats airily in wide skirted dancing dresses. It comes in mysterious black, ethereal white and pastels, and no other fabric ever boasts the exquisite flattering beige or natural tints of lace.

Long sleeved, high covered necklines are emphasized in the newest dinner dresses. Black lace over nude-pink undersheaths are just as naughtily provocative as they sound in print. Black lace is used for the entire costume or worked in bands with sheers like net, chiffon, mousseline de soie and with fine silky organdies, organzas, and marganzas.

Black lace dramatizes sugar white sheers with the same elegance. Midnight blue lace is a runner-up for the honors usually rated by black. Midnight blue is twice as flattering to some complexions as black and looks even blacker under artificial light than black.

Lace bands and edgings make simple daytime dresses dress parade. Lace at the hem of a full skirted cocktail or Sunday night supper dress of black crêpe or fine thin black wool, used in bands in bodice tops and short sleeves or frilled lavishly at the wrists of long fitted sleeves, it will do wonders for softening.

Lace blouses in white, flesh, beige, silver gray and sky blue or in dark shades of brown, copper, navy, and black make ideal tops for suits of faille or bengaline or the smart suits of combined wool and taffeta. Dache is making picture hats, face framing summer hats of coarse white lace thru which the summer sunshine will play in lovely shadows over the head. Lace bows are tied perkily on small straw hats and edgings of fine lace make flattering veils for both small and large millinery creations for spring and summer.

TONIGHT! TOURNEY OF CHAMPIONS IN 3 RINGS

SHARE OF TITLE AWAITS VICTOR IN BLOOMINGTON

Purdue Meets Iowa; N. U. at Michigan.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

This is the night the Western conference basketball championship probably will be decided. Wisconsin, winner of nine consecutive games since losing the season's opener to Minnesota, meets Indiana in Bloomington. Indiana has won eight games, has only been defeated by Purdue, and has one more game to play than Wisconsin.

Tonight's victor certainly should expect to at least tie for the title, and in view of the recent doings of the Badgers and Hoosiers few doubt but that the winner will be the champion.

Saturday evening the Badgers overwhelmed Chicago [defeat No. 9 for the Maroons], running up a 38 to 9 lead at the half. Wisconsin's victory total of 65 points became third best team score only because Minnesota was walloping Purdue, 68 to 50, on the same evening. Earlier in the season Ohio State had defeated Chicago, 67 to 38.

Indiana Is Ready.

Indiana finished preparation by romping over Iowa in Iowa City, 47 to 36, thus approximately duplicating the point margin in the first game of the series.

Tonight's test likely centers on whether Indiana can cope with the Badgers' height and whether Wisconsin can match the Hoosiers' speed. Gene Englund, bellwether to Coach Bud Foster's squad, scored 17 points against Chicago Saturday night to increase his lead in the individual scoring race over his rival center from Chicago, Capt. Joe Stampf, who made 13 points and now trails Englund by six points.

The season records of the rival teams, with the home team in each game indicated by an asterisk, follow:

WISCONSIN.

*Minnesota, 44; Wisconsin, 27.
*Wisconsin, 49; Iowa, 35.
*Wisconsin, 48; Purdue, 42 [overtime].
Wisconsin, 49; *Michigan, 30.
*Wisconsin, 36; Ohio State, 31.
Wisconsin, 48; *Northwestern, 46 [overtime].
*Wisconsin, 46; Illinois, 30.
Wisconsin, 43; *Purdue, 42.
*Wisconsin, 65; Chicago, 24.

INDIANA.

Indiana, 48; *Illinois, 36.
*Indiana, 52; Northwestern, 32.
Indiana, 41; *Michigan, 37.
*Purdue, 40; Indiana, 36.
*Indiana, 45; Ohio State, 28.
*Indiana, 50; Iowa, 46.
*Indiana, 44; Minnesota, 34.
Indiana, 40; *Ohio State, 33.
Indiana, 47; *Iowa, 36.

The conference race is not definitely over with this game. By coincidence the teams which whipped Wisconsin and Indiana play them again Saturday night. And Wisconsin and Indiana will have the advantage of home courts. Thus, tonight's victor might fall back into a virtual tie by losing Saturday while the other team won. Indiana finishes its schedule at Chicago a week from tonight.

Gophers Claim Assist.

By trouncing Purdue, Minnesota gave notice that while the championship may be out of reach—the Gophers have lost three games—it will have an important part in determining the champion. Tonight Minnesota entertains Chicago.

Purdue's defending champions, now struggling to land a first division berth, continue their trip to Iowa tonight. Ohio State, victor over Northwestern's Wildcats Saturday, moves on to Illinois. Michigan's defeat of the Illini gave it a .500 rating and it, too, is in danger of finishing in the second division. Michigan meets Northwestern in Ann Arbor tonight.

NAHIN, BREWER OFFICIAL, DIES OF HEART AILMENT

Elm Grove, Wis., Feb. 23 (AP).—Louis M. Nahin, 54 years old, business manager of the Milwaukee American Association baseball team, died tonight at 10:35 o'clock of a heart ailment at his home here. He was stricken yesterday.

LOU KOLLS AND FOUR OTHERS DIE IN AUTO CRASH

Hooppole, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP).—Louis C. Kolls of Moline, Ill., American league umpire for eight years until his release last fall, and four other persons were killed tonight when two automobiles collided head on near here.

The other dead, all members of a family from Erie, Ill., were Charles Taets, 72 years old, and his wife, 70; Camiel Taets, 45, brother of Charles, and Albert Taets, 30, son of Charles.

Injured were Mrs. Berdina Garrett of Moline, and Mrs. Camiel Taets. They were taken to a Moline hospital.

Kolls was returning home from Chicago and the Taets were en route to a family anniversary party.

Kolls became an American league umpire in 1933. Following his release last year, he signed with the American association.

He was born in Rock Island, Ill., Dec. 15, 1896, and started his umpiring career with the Mississippi Valley league. He went to the Western league in 1927 and later worked for the Pacific Coast and International leagues.

The accident occurred on state route 92, two miles west of the intersection of route 78 in northwestern Henry county, about 30 miles from Moline.

MEET MR. DAVIS, SINGER, STUDENT, AND A CHAMPION!

Memphis Golden Glover Ready to Carry On.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

His full name is Henry Percy Davis, his nickname is Punchy, and he sings in a glee club, but he is also a lot of lightweight fighter, as the followers of the Memphis Commercial-Appeal team allow his opponents in the Golden Gloves Tourney of Champions will discover these next three nights in the Chicago Stadium.

And if any one takes that tag of Punchy in a derogatory sense, they are soon told that Master Davis is one of the honor students in the senior class of Mississippi State college, not to mention the fact that he carries a mean note for the college choral team. A twenty-one year old native of Chattanooga, Punchy has been Southeastern conference champion for three years. Nor is he a novice in amateur boxing's biggest show. Four years ago, fighting as a featherweight on the Nashville Tennesseean's squad, Punchy went to the semifinals of the Golden Gloves, scored a winning point in the intercity feud with New York, and later won his fight in Nashville's meeting with that year's European squad.

All of the coaches of the forty-four teams which begin firing tonight reckon they are able coaches, but for background and easily remembered ability, they'll all bow to Milwaukee's tutor, a fellow named Barney Ross. Mr. Ross, if you remember, won the 1929 featherweight crown and then went on to become the first Golden Glover to win a world championship, making it two in fact, in the lightweight and welterweight classes.

Barney, who has been commuting almost daily since the Milwaukee team hired him as coach, will have able assistance in Baby Joe Gans and Johnny Megna. A half dozen years ago, Ross knocked out Gans in a pro fight in Portland, Ore., just after the latter had become quite a threat. Megna is coach of the West Allis boxing club, which produced four of Milwaukee's champions.

Four Indians are members of the Oklahoma City Oklahoman squad, and they nearly frightened the daylights out of Tribune Photographer Tom Johnson, who has trained his lens on such gents as Dizzy Dean, the Chicago Bears, and wrestling's several angels, with their whooping. Most vociferous was Asa Howling Wolf, the Oklahomans' 175 pounder, whose pictures should be wired for sound. The other native Americans are Flyweight Bracy Murrow, Lightweight Billy Tiger from last year's team, and Middleweight Vincent Meyers.

The Sioux City Journal squad boasts two football members. One is Heavyweight Stan Seneca, who is an Iroquois Indian and who plays football for Western Union college in Le Mars, Ia. Another gridiron star for the Hawkeye squad is Bob Burns, a light heavyweight, who shone in the University of South Dakota back field last fall, leading the North Central conference in scoring. Burns is the author of the jest which gained nation-wide prominence after the Iowa-South Dakota game last fall. He was calling signals with only seconds left of the first half. He finally had used up all but one down when the Dakotans were in a hole, and before calling the next play, he yelled across the line to Al Couppee, the Iowa quarter back, "Say, Couppee, you're a Big Ten quarterback. What would you do?"

Clint Conway, Cleveland Plain Dealer middleweight, who is only 18 years old, is a member of the 172d infantry division of the Ohio National guard. Altho Conway is 6 feet 4 inches tall and possesses a terrific right hand wallop, Cleveland officials are pessimistic about his chances to

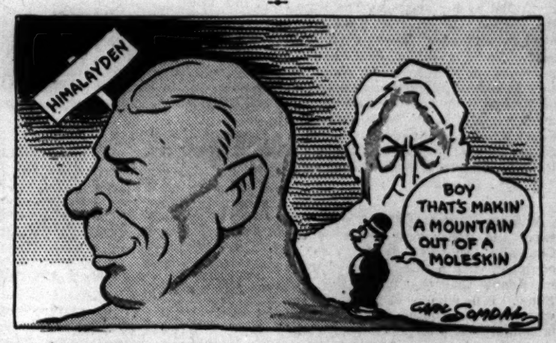
In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THIS is a climactic night in the lives of 352 stout hearted young Americans. . . . It's the opening round of the famous Chicago Tournament of Champions, the stage of Golden Gloves competition which brings together the winners from 44 qualifying meets scattered between the Rockies and the Alleghenies and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico. . . . When the firing has subsided Wednesday night the tremendous field of 23,000 contestants who started down the Golden Gloves trail a month ago will be reduced to 32. . . . The survivors will battle it out March 7 for the championships of the tournament and the right to fight New York's standard bearers in Chicago Stadium, March 26. . . . There is more serious and more important fighting going on elsewhere in the world, but for sincerity of purpose and determination to succeed our Golden Glovers yield to no one. . . . Unlike fighting men across the sea, these boys are fighting according to the rules of a game, regulations that recognize an adversary has some rights, even if the struggle is going against him. . . . They have been schooled in the principles of sportsmanship and impressed by the importance of clean living during the weeks they have been in training for their big test. . . . It was Col. John J. Griffin, chairman of the Missouri boxing commission, who remarked at a banquet preceding the finals of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat tournament that he wished for the good of the country that the number of participants in Golden Gloves was 230,000 instead of 23,000. . . .

The value of Golden Gloves which this year is having its 14th renewal is appreciated more than ever since public attention is focused on national defense. . . . For the last several years tens of thousands of Americans had been talking of a softer, easier life—a five day week, a six hour day. . . . European developments roused us from our Utopian dream and Uncle Sam is beginning to take stock. . . . And it is interesting to note that he hasn't found our amateur boxers, our football players, and other participants in sport involving violent physical contact spreading the gospel of the easy life. . . . A young man who had the courage to enter a tournament involving 23,000 that blocked his path to a title believes in the old theory of the survival of the fittest. . . . He believes in it because he knows it works. . . . It's nature's law. . . . A fellow who is willing to sacrifice, toil, train, and endure in order to make good in athletics doesn't grow soft. . . . He comes out of competition of this kind a stronger man, and America today needs strong men. . . .

Soldiers from Louisiana, truck drivers, shopworkers, and students from Cleveland, Omaha, Fort Worth, Detroit, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and scores of other cities are in the loop this morning awaiting the call to arms. . . . They hope to prove that Texas grows stronger, more skilled boxers than the back streets of great cities. . . . They are determined to give their all for Kokomo, Grand Rapids, or South Bend. . . . It's a safe prediction, however, that when the battling is over, it will be known that no city, no state, or no section has a monopoly on boxing skill or courage. . . . The important fact will remain that 23,000 young men, of whom tonight's contestants are the best, had the heart to engage in the toughest test amateur boxing provides. . . . Only the brave attempt it. . . . Golden Gloves is no place for the faint hearted.



He's Over the Hill.

First Visit.

Last night we went to visit them—
The newly wedded pair,
A strange experience indeed
To go and see them there
Within the modern little place
They're calling home today,
And have them entertaining us
In such a cordial way.
We had some coffee and some cake
Served by the little bride,
It did us good—this hour or two
To watch their joy and pride.
Across the years we'll cherish it
This visit number one.
We paid to her, the girl he chose,
And him—our married son.
—Hilda Butler Farr.

Sudden Thought.

The Dreams of Youth.

You used to warn me as the boss drew near
When I was office boy long years ago;
His stealthy step I never seemed to hear,
But you by intuition seemed to know;
I promised that when I became a man
I'd hire you to answer all my mail,
And lots of nights I'd lie awake and plan
Our happy journey down the long, long trail.
Today I own a firm, but you still slave
In the small office that we knew of old;
I never kept the promise that I gave,
Tho everything I've touched has turned to gold;
We just salute each other as we pass—
How fickle are the dreams of youth alas!
—T. E. B.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions—the greatest variety show in the realm of sport—will open this evening in the Stadium.

Farm boys from the corn belt, Indians from the western plains, steel workers from the great industrial centers, college students and office personnel will join in a rigorously competitive struggle for the most highly cherished prizes in amateur boxing.

All day yesterday, the representatives checked in at Golden Gloves headquarters. They came from 43 out of town centers where newspapers and one radio station coöperated with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in the sponsorship of eliminations.

Confidence Reigns Supreme.

Nearly every team that came in was particularly confident about the chances of one or two—or sometimes half a dozen—of its eight boxers. The St. Louis delegation, for instance, was fortified with a National A. A. U. finalist, James Reddick, who showed his class in the amateur title event at Boston, then went to South America and won his bout as a member of the A. A. U.'s international team. He followed up with a victory in the St. Louis Golden Gloves sectional tournament.

Reddick will make it tough for any one in the light heavyweight division—but boxing fans aren't forgetting Chicago's Hezzie Williams, who has some straight, hard punches of his own ready to throw during the next few evenings.

Among the 352 contestants who will start in this struggle of three consecutive nights, there are not only fighters who have proved their ability along conventional lines but there are also plenty of spectacular, unorthodox sluggers to add spice and variety to the program. Take, for instance, Asa Howling Wolf, the light heavyweight representative of the Oklahoma City team.

Meet Mr. Howling Wolf.

Howling Wolf was raised on an Indian reservation and learned how to beat all comers before he ever heard of such a thing as a boxing instructor. His unusual style is sure to confuse even the experienced boys he meets in the Tournament of Champions because none of them has gone up against any one who fights quite like Howling Wolf. When interviewed yesterday on his prospects, Howling Wolf's only comment was "Ugh."

The Memphis squad came in with a veteran of Golden Gloves competition—Percy Davis. This youngster, who is a lightweight, was beaten by Willie Joyce of Gary when he was competing in the featherweight class in the 1937 tournament. Joyce went on to win the championship. Davis came back to fight on the Intercity team that season and he defeated his New York opponent.

A Third Joyce Is Fighting.

The name Joyce brings up the subject of this year's Gary team. Eugene Joyce, the third member of the family to attempt to make a place for himself in Golden Gloves, is the bantamweight representative of Gary. He's particularly anxious to be paired with Richard Menchaca of the Fort Worth, Tex., squad. Menchaca defeated Eugene's brother, Jimmy, in last season's Golden Gloves bantamweight final.

In addition to Joyce, Gary has a number of capable fighters. Johnny O'Brien has been trying for three years to go places in Golden Gloves competition and his friends believe that this is going to be his season. He was turned down three years ago because he was under age. He was so eager to box that he could hardly wait until he turned 16. Last year he fought as a 112 pounder and showed considerable talent. Then he went off to Oregon to a CCC camp.

In the past year, Johnny has gone thru a phenomenal physical development. He has shot up from a flyweight to a welterweight, and achieved

Boston, Mass., Feb. 23 (AP).—The Boston Bruins blasted 63 shots at Goalie Charlie Rayner to gain a 3 to 1 victory over the crippled New York Americans tonight before a 10,000 crowd in the Boston Garden.

By so doing, the Bruins, who have escaped defeat since Dec. 21, extended their National Hockey league record string of unbeaten games to 23 and pulled within one point of the top place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Despite the barrage, Rayner held the Bruins on even terms until the ninth minute of the final period, when Bobby Bauer clinched the game by driving into an empty net.

Pat Egan, defense man, was lost to the Americans early in the action. He was put out of commission for the remainder of the season when he suffered a cracked fibula in his left leg when checked into the sideboards by Dit Clapper. Lineups:

RANGERS BREAK 4TH PLACE TIE; BEAT HAWKS, 4-1

Hawks Without Services of Seibert, Bentley.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—The New York Rangers took undisputed possession of fourth place in the National Hockey league tonight with a 4 to 1 victory over a tired band of Chicago Blackhawks. The teams previously had been tied for the position.

Showing flashes of the power that took them to the world title last season, the Rangers scored once in each of the first two periods and added two more in the third. The Hawks' score came early in the third period when George Allen, taking a turn on the weakened Hawk rearguard, broke fast and let go a drive as he hit the Ranger defense, to beat Goalie Dave Kerr cleanly.

Hawks Have Few Chances.

A crowd of 9,815 found the game dull, except for the last half of the final period. The Hawks had few scoring chances thruout and appeared weak without their star defenseman, Earl Seibert, and Forward Doug Bentley, both injured in last night's game in Montreal.

Seibert, who suffered a leg injury, and Bentley, whose back is proving troublesome, are not expected to be available for the Hawks' game Thursday night in Chicago with the Detroit Red Wings. The injured players preceded their teammates home tonight.

Lo Presti Has No Chance.

Both his goals came shortly after the four minute mark of the first and second periods and Sam Lo Presti in the Chicago cage had no chance on either of the close in shots.

Alex Shibicky was credited with the third Ranger goal altho it really was pushed into the cage by Joe Cooper, Chicago rearguard, after Lo Presti saved Shibicky's drive. The puck fell in front of the net and Cooper pushed it in as he fell in the goal mouth.

Lyn Patrick ended the scoring with less than three minutes of play remaining when he evaded Red MacKay's checking and took a pass from Phil Watson in the shadow of the cage. He tipped the puck past Lo Presti.

Prisoners at Joliet have registered a protest against some of the movies shown for their entertainment. They claim the actors in the gangster films are sissies and know nothing whatever about the real, bona fide hoodlum technique. Looks as if some of the boys might be angling for a trip to Hollywood as technical advisers.

A Chicago woman complains of the courts that her husband tried to run her down on an icy pavement with his automobile and that last summer, when they were in a boat together, he tried to tip it over and drown her. Now she wants a divorce. It's just like I always said. Some women won't stand for any clowning around at all. —Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

Globe-Democrat officials report the greatest tournament ever in St. Louis this year. The sixth year the city has held a Golden Gloves tournament, attendance records soared from the record mark of 24,000 in 1940 to over 36,000 this year—that was for four nights in one week. The finals drew 12,891 cash customers.

Three members of the team representing WHO radio station in Des Moines are musicians and one is a tap dancer. Ozzie Lewis, welterweight, is a violinist; Billy Cornwall, flyweight, plays the harmonica, and Morton Graves, bantamweight, is a pianist. On his arrival with the squad last night, Team Manager Bill Brown said the boys might consider forming a vaudeville act after the tournament.

Only a few of the contestants have come up to the tournament with souvbriquets beyond their given names, but Rodney Shaw, light heavyweight member of the Fort Smith, Ark., Southwest Times-Record, arrived well identified by his mates as The Fighting Parson. During the week Shaw attends Arkansas Teachers' college, where he is a junior, and then he preaches on Sunday. His congregation includes the Jacksonville circuit of Methodist churches, a rural settlement north of Little Rock. When he knocked out his opponent in the first round of the Fort Smith finals, the Rev. Mr. Shaw was heard to say only, "O, boy! Chicago!"

William Thomas Barrett, who will carry the lightweight hopes of the Centralia Sentinel team, also is equipped with a title, one even more formidable than that of the Rev. Mr. Shaw. Bill, who is 25 years old and who has been boxing for four years, is commissioner of public health and safety for the city of Eldorado, Ill.

Tournament of Champions On Tonight

Cleveland's Strong, as Usual.

Cleveland, which has won four team trophies and has had 12 champions during a brilliant succession of Golden Gloves campaigns, is back with another strong team. Among the likely fighters on the squad is George Horne Jr. of Niles, O. Horne's legal guardian, Matt McGowan of the Niles police force, trained the boy in the police gymnasium.

Another strong Cleveland fighter is Buddy Smallwood, who lost to the defending champion, Vic Saccoia of Detroit, in last year's Tournament of Champions.

Cleveland, incidentally, had a particularly big tournament, 185 bouts having been run off on the first of the four nights of competition.

Here's a Southern Juggernaut.

Another consistently strong center is Nashville, which has sent up one of its traditionally powerful teams. It ought to be good because there were 33 subsidiary tournaments leading up to the grand finals in Nashville. Boys from Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia joined the battle for places on this team.

Among the Nashville fighters is Herbert Moore, a postgraduate student at the University of Kentucky, who came up to Chicago as a member of the Lexington, Ky., team in 1939. On that occasion he was forced to default in the semi-finals because of an injured hand. He fights in the 160 pound class.

Ray Steigerwald, a chemist in a government plant in Cincinnati, is the flyweight member of the Nashville squad. He went quite a way in the Tournament of Champions in 1939.

Patsy Ancona Returns.

Patsy Ancona is back again with the Kansas City team. Golden Gloves fans last year saw him drop a close decision to Savior Canadeo of Chicago, who went on to win the welterweight championship and become the captain of the intercity team. Two other former sectional title holders are representing Kansas City again this season. These are Ray Standifer, a light heavyweight, and Jack Haley, a featherweight.

Boxers of the four lighter weight divisions will compete tonight, and the four heavier classes will go on tomorrow. All the survivors will fight on Wednesday, when the field will be reduced to 32—four in each weight division. These will return for the finals on March 7.

Ragon Kinney, heavyweight of the Fort Smith, Ark., team, arrived yesterday unexpectedly. He had reported he would be unable to compete. Kinney's presence will intensify competition in his division. He has starred in the Stadium for two years as a light heavyweight.

ARNE ANDERSON, LOU THOMAS TO BATTLE TONIGHT

Arne Anderson, Minneapolis heavyweight who knocked out Frank Green in one round recently, will attempt to duplicate the feat in a 10 round bout against Lou Thomas of Indianapolis in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight. Bob [Red] Berry, middleweight stranger from Cleveland, will make his Chicago debut in a five round semi-windup against Billy Pierce. Matches of four rounds bring together Floyd Hagen, St. Paul 138 pounder, and Bill Parsons; Johnny Rozina, Milwaukee middleweight, and Tony Vino, and Bill Hawkins, former Catholic Youth organization bantamweight, and Richard Rigali.

HERMAN SIGNS AS CUBS DEPART FOR CATALINA CAMP

Rookie Also Enters Fold; Only Eight Still Out.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Billy Herman, the Cubs' 31 year old captain and second baseman, came to Chicago yesterday from his New Albany, Ind., home, engaged in a brief salary debate, signed his contract, and with 16 other players, left last night for Catalina Island. Another capitulation also was recorded when Paul Erickson, a rookie right hander who makes his home in nearby Zion, agreed to terms.

This signing business on the part of the Cubs took on more significance than the departure of the squad. It indicated more strongly than ever that the backbone of salary resistance has been broken by the Cubs' freshman general manager, Jim Gallagher, who, with other club attachés, was a passenger on the Santa Fe Scout when it pulled out of the Dearborn street station at 10:25 p. m.

Only Eight Dissatisfied.

Only eight players now are among the dallying gentry, but all except one are residents of the western part of the country—one Arizonian, five Californians, one Oregonian, and one Louisianan, to break them up into states. The Arizonian, Hank Leiber, a recent bridegroom, long has been noted as a difficult man to line up in a financial way. The Oregonian is Vern Olsen, who won 13 and lost 9 last season, his first with the Cubs. The dissatisfied Californians are the two Lous from the Los Angeles club, Stringer and Novikoff, Charley Root, Stanley Hack, and Glen [Rip] Russell. The eighth fellow is Bill Lee of Plaquemine, La., who issued a few warlike statements last week in a communique which also contained disparaging comment on the Cubs' sale of Zeke Bonura to Minneapolis.

Stringer has arranged to meet Gallagher when the train arrives in Los Angeles Wednesday morning. Olsen also is standing by for an interview.

Wilson in California.

Jimmy Wilson, the Cubs' new manager, already is in California, but the west bound party is in capable hands. Wilson's two aids, Charley Grimm and Dick Spalding, took charge, assisted by Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis and Trainer Andy Lotshaw. There were three women in the delegation, Mrs. Bill Nicholson, Mrs. Gallagher, and Mrs. Lotshaw. Since Mrs. Wilson is at Avalon, enough women are available for a bridge foursome, and if one of the four doesn't care to play, Charley George, the rookie catcher, has volunteered to sit in. Last night's party included the following:

Pitchers Vance Page, Clay Bryant, Herb Chmiel, Ray Campbell, and Erickson; Catchers Al Todd, Clyde McCullough, and George; Infielders Len Merullo, Rabbit Warstler, Billy Myers, Ed Waitkus, and Herman; Outfielders Phil Cavarretta, Dominic Dallessandro, Barney Olsen, and Nicholson; Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. Lotshaw, Secretary Lewis, and Coaches Grimm and Spalding.

Annunciation Sets C. Y. O. Mark—127-24!

A 10 year old record was shattered yesterday in the Catholic Youth organization basketball league when Annunciation parish seniors overwhelmed Our Lady Help of Christians, 127 to 24, in St. Sylvester's gym. The game marked the eighth successive victory for Annunciation.

Jimmy Hoffman, forward, led Annunciation with 45 points—22 field goals and a free throw. This gave Hoffman the all-time individual high score in the C. Y. O. competition.

At St. Bernard's gym, St. Columbanus juniors threw the divisional lead into a three way tie by defeating Holy Cross, 17 to 13. Other scores:

SALMON WINS ICEBOAT TITLE ON FOX LAKE

Harry Salmon of the Fox Lake Ice Yacht club won the International Skeeter association's second annual iceboat regatta on Fox Lake, Ill., yesterday, scoring a total of 74 points in five races. He sailed his entry, Woo Woo, to victory over Jack Vilas Jr., in Susie Q II., the defending champion. Vilas, one of the Skeeter Ice Yacht club's entrants from Lake Geneva, Wis., finished the series with 68 points. He started in only four of the five races, however. Both of yesterday's A class races were won by Joe Schermack of the Detroit [Mich.] Iceboat club, in Minx III.

The B class title went to Clare Lindstedt, also from the Fox Lake fleet, in Siren. Jack Salmon, in Sphinx, was runnerup with 25 points. Gloria Gartz Vilas won the lady skippers' championship by taking more events than her sister-in-law, Sue Vilas Grulee, altho the two yachtswomen's scores were tied at 19 points each.

Best speed in yesterday's final events was 22 minutes for the six mile course.

SOX BRING SUN TO CALIFORNIA, BUT NOT ENOUGH

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 23.—The White Sox training school could have had its annual opening today, as originally scheduled, but Prof. James Dykes decided a 24 hour delay would do no harm, even tho it costs $7 per diem to feed and house each of his charges.

The weather, which has been bad for weeks, took a turn for the better when the delegation arrived from Chicago to meet up with those who had straggled in from other points. But the sun in the sky wasn't sufficient to convince the manager that it would be perfectly safe to turn loose a flock of winter softened athletes on a thoroly soaked practice field.

Twenty-five on Hand.

The professor, however, has issued orders that all members of his first squad must be in uniform at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning for their opening session of muscle stretching. It will not be strenuous, the manager being one of those rare fellows smart enough to appreciate the hazard of charley horses, lame arms, etc.

When the squad, numbering 25, completes the task of donning work clothes, the professor will open school with calisthenics, a session conducted by Doc Ad Schacht. After this there will be light throwing and some running.

That means there will be no batting practice until Thursday, possibly Friday, but it is a fair bet that there will be bats on the field tomorrow and if there are bats within reach, the boys will make use of them despite the schoolmaster's schedule.

Humphries Is Happy.

One of Dykes' most enthusiastic enrollees is Johnny Humphries, recently obtained from the Cleveland Indians in trade for Clint Brown. Humphries went thru the revolution with the Indians last season and altho he never was known to be hooked up with the recalcitrants, he was delighted to get away. He thinks he'll have a chance now to show his worth instead of growing old in the bull pen.

Sixteen pitchers are on the squad and eventually this mound corps will be boiled down to about nine men. It is a cinch that seven of the prospective nine will be Ted Lyons, Humphries, Pete Appleton, Bill Dietrich, Thornton Lee, John Rigney, and Eddie Smith. It will take time to uncover the two other possibilities, but the leading candidates at the moment are Jack Hallett, brought up last fall from Shreveport; Orval Grove, whom the Sox have been schooling for a couple of years, and Orville Jorgens, an ex-big leaguer who thinks he has recovered from a bad arm which forced him into premature retirement.

Solters Brings Good News.

The three fat boys, Smith, Taft Wright, and Julius Solters, who trained at Hot Springs, Ark., for three weeks, were around today showing the results of their preliminary labors. All three looked as if their suits had been handed down to them by older brothers and the reduction in respective weights was pleasing. But more pleasing was Solters' contention that despite his strenuous hill climbing at the Arkansas resort, he had aroused no bad news from the charley horse which disturbed him thruout last season.

LAWNDALE FIVE WINS 18 IN ROW IN LODGE LEAGUE

Lawndale extended its winning streak to 18 games in the B'nai B'rith Lodge Division Basketball league by defeating Garfield Park, 34 to 27, yesterday in the Boys' Brotherhood Republic gymnasium. It was the first setback in eight games for Garfield Park. Dave Meyers scored five field goals and two free throws for the winners.

In other games, Albany Park upset Lake View, 41 to 26; Sachar won from South Side, 36 to 20; Salomon trimmed North Shore, 43 to 31, and Austin nosed out Logan Square, 25 to 22.

Jurges Shows Old Skill in a 9 Inning Game

Miami, Fla., Feb. 23 [Special].—Clear-eyed and confident at the plate, spry and sure-handed in the field, Bill Jurges today showed no jittery effects of last year's beaning by Bucky Walters when he sparkled thru nine full innings of an intraclub game in which McCarthys beat the Youngs, 5 to 2, before a near capacity crowd at the Giants' training camp.

The former Cub, whose career has dangled in the balance since he was struck down by Walters last June, made two hits. In the field, he made two flashy plays.

President Horace Stoneham and Manager Bill Terry still had no relief today from their "signus" trouble. Four Giant stars—Catcher Harry Danning, Second Baseman Burgess Whitehead, First Baseman Babe Young, and Third Baseman Joe Orengo—remained unsigned. But Young played in the intraclub game today and is expected to come to terms shortly and the other three are on their way to camp for salary confabs.

FIVE YANKEES' HOLDOUTS.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 23 [Special].—Five members of the New York Yankees became official holdouts this afternoon as Manager Joe McCarthy and a Pullman car full of writers and players arrived for the start of the club's spring training.

Pitchers Charley Ruffing, Johnny Murphy, Spud Chandler, and Catchers Bill Dickey and Buddy Rosar, due to report today and work out tomorrow, were still unsigned, tho it was learned Murphy and Chandler were close to agreement. Nothing, however, has been heard from the other three.

Both Murphy and Chandler, who have spent the winter here with their families, are expecting to settle their differences after talks with McCarthy tomorrow. Murphy won only 8 and lost 4, while Chandler just cleared the .500 mark with 8 victories and 7 defeats last season. Neither is too secure as a member of the team. With several young hurlers filling up the lobby chairs, the Yanks could well afford to trade either without suffering much.

JOE GALLAGHER AILING.

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 23 [Special].—Joe Gallagher of the Dodgers was treated for a torn muscle in his chest this morning, but an examination failed to locate the cause of the misery. Joe then was X-rayed and the complete diagnosis will be known tomorrow. Gallagher is anxious to shed some of his 239 pounds but can't indulge in much needed daily workouts in his present condition. He can't bat or raise his left hand above his head without feeling pain. Curt Davis and Van Lingle Mungo will be the starting pitchers in tomorrow's intraclub exhibition.

TAMULIS SPURNS 2D OFFER.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 23 (AP).—Vito Tamulis, southpaw pitcher who has yet to wear a Phillies uniform, gave the last place National League club its second headache today by confirming reports he is a holdout. Holdout No. 1 is third baseman Merrill May, now considering a second contract described by President Gerry Nugent as containing a substantial raise.

CHICAGOANS WIN IN OZARK TABLE TENNIS TOURNEY

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 23 (AP).—Bill Holzrichter of Chicago won the men's singles championship in the Ozark table tennis tournament tonight by defeating Jimmy McClure of Indianapolis, 12-21, 21-16, 21-7, 10-21, 21-16. McClure had scored an upset over Bob Anderson of Chicago in the semi-finals. The scores were 18-21, 21-11, 21-19, 21-19.

Anderson and Holzrichter took the men's doubles title by winning from Bill Pierce and Allen Levy of St. Louis, 21-15, 15-21, 21-13.

Anderson paired with Lavera Weber of Chicago to win the mixed doubles championship over McClure and Majorie Blattner of St. Louis, 21-11, 21-19.

Box Scores that tell Baseball's History

[This is the 13th of a series of baseball's most famous box scores. All are milestones in the history of the national pastime.]

To Chicago's White Sox went the honor of winning the first pennant contested for in the American league. They clinched it on Sept. 12, 1900 in the old park at 39th street and Wentworth avenue with Roy Patterson limiting the Cleveland club to seven hits. The Sox collected 15, scoring three runs in the first inning, five in the fourth, and three again in the seventh while compiling a 12 to 4 triumph. Chicago's infield supported Patterson with three double plays. There was no world series until 1903. Score:

Vaughn Makes Debut Tonight in Bruin Lineup

Ralph Vaughn makes his debut as a member of the Chicago Bruins in tonight's National Basketball league contest between the Bruins and Oshkosh All-Stars in the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets. The Bruins also seek to further their bid for a playoff berth. The East Chicago Forests will meet the Kayes Sports in a Windy City league game starting at 7:45 p. m.

Vaughn, purchased from the Hammond Ciesars last Friday, gives the Chicago quintet the strongest scoring punch in the league. Vaughn led the league in scoring until four weeks ago when he suffered two broken ribs. He has recovered completely from the injury.

Tonight's starting lineup for the Bruins includes Mike Novak and Stan Szukala, along with Bill Hapac, Wibs Kautz, and Vaughn.

The Bruins conclude their home season against the Hammond team in the Armory on Wednesday night when Vaughn will get a chance to play against his former teammates. They wind up the regular schedule in Akron on Friday night against the Firestones. The Bruins must win their remaining games to get into the playoffs.

Oshkosh will be at full strength tonight with Leroy Edwards once again displaying the form that gave him the league scoring championship three straight years.

PLANE MAKER'S SALES, BACKLOG SET NEW PEAKS

Douglas Nets $18.05 Per Share in Year.

Stockholders of Douglas Aircraft company were informed yesterday that sales in the fiscal year set an all time record, earnings rose to $18.05 a share, and the company had a vast backlog of orders.

Donald W. Douglas.

President Donald W. Douglas reported that of a record $348,866,237 backlog as of last Nov. 30 [end of fiscal year], United States government orders totaled $232,780,281 and foreign military orders $80,385,353. The remaining $35,700,403 represented domestic and foreign commercial plane orders.

Cost Plus Fee Contracts.

"Approximately $199,000,000 of United States government business in the backlog is in cost-plus-fixed fee contracts," he said. "From these contracts the company may not retain profits in excess of 6 per cent, before income and excess profits taxes."

Sales totaled $60,970,744, a record, and net income rose to $10,831,971 from $2,884,197 in the preceding year.

Altho 1940 earnings amounted to $18.05 a share, $13.05 was retained in the business to finance inventories and other operating requirements. The $5 dividend was paid on the 600,000 shares outstanding and $3,219,851 was put back into new buildings, machinery, and equipment to help the company meet armament demands, the report said.

Current Assets 44 Millions.

Current assets at the close of the year totaled $44,775,360, including cash of $26,675,077 and inventories of $13,731,704, compared with current liabilities of $31,504,612, which included $24,094,608 in contract advances in excess of expenditures.

The company's 1940 pay roll totaled $27,126,269 paid to 16,725 employés. By February 12, 1941, however, the personnel had increased to 22,300, indicating, the report said, an annual pay roll of about $40,000,000.

FEBRUARY STEEL ORDERS HEAVIER THAN JANUARY'S

Cleveland, O., Feb. 23 (AP).—February orders are heavier than January's in most steel plants despite the shorter month, the magazine Steel said today in reporting a "tight situation" in several raw materials.

More companies are reporting a leveling off in demand, however, the review said, "due partly to knowledge on the part of consumers that steel is difficult to buy unless very good reasons for the purchase are shown."

"Leading steel companies have begun urging their customers to specify, wherever possible, substitutes for nickel steels," the review said. "Supplies of nickel at steel plants are equivalent to 2 to 14 days' requirements, with deliveries considerably below the level needed to maintain inventories."

TAX RISE MAKES UTILITIES' RATE CUTS DIFFICULT

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—The large increase in local, state, and federal taxes in recent years, far outstripping the gain in annual revenues, have made it progressively more difficult to obtain reductions in gas, electric, telephone, and water rates, the public service commission declared today in its annual report.

Citing the cases of gas and electric utilities in New York City, the report discloses that their total tax burden increased almost 189 per cent between 1925 and 1939, while annual revenues increased only about 34 per cent.

New York to Sell Note Issue of 110 Millions

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 [Special].—An issue of $110,000,000 of short term notes will be sold tomorrow by State Controler Morris S. Tremaine. The notes are to be dated Feb. 25 and are to mature June 30. The interest rate will be 0.20 per cent, payable at maturity.

Number of Freight Cars on Order at 15 Year Peak

Railway freight car manufacturers were at work on 41,600 freight cars on Feb. 1, the largest number for this date in 15 years, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The number of freight cars on order a month earlier was 35,702, and a year earlier, 34,559.

SMITHS AND BROWNS SEEM TO HAVE IT ON JONESES IN BUSINESS

The names of Smith, Brown, and Jones, instead of being cloaks of anonymity, are names of which to be proud, judging by the large number of them appearing in Poor's Register of Directors and Executives. However, the 1941 directory in comparison with 1940, shows the Joneses are losing out to the Smiths and Browns.

There are 928 Smiths, compared with 925 last year. The Browns number 481 against 469 listed in 1940. The number of Joneses has sagged to 380 from 383 last year and 386 in 1939.

1940 Earnings of Gen. Foods Slightly Higher

General Foods corporation yesterday reported 1940 net income of $15,244,077 after all charges, expenses and provisions for taxes, equal after preferred dividend requirements to $2.77 a common share. The company earned $15,118,063, or $2.75 a share, in 1939.

Colby M. Chester, chairman, disclosed the company sold the largest tonnage of food in its history in 1940. Net sales rose to $152,924,209 from $145,615,242 in 1939. In 1929 sales were $128,036,792.

Chester said sales in the final quarter of 1940 were also the largest for any quarter in the history of the company.

Utility Has Slight Gain.

Consolidated Edison company of New York and subsidiaries reported 1940 net income of $36,454,864, equal after preferred dividends to $2.23 a common share, compared with $36,428,119, or $2.22 a common share, in 1939.

The company's annual report disclosed an increase in operating revenues was accompanied by larger operating expenses, increased depreciation charges, and higher taxes.

Briggs and Stratton corporation, maker of automobile equipment and portable gasoline engines, reported a 1940 profit of $1,041,133, equal to $3.47 a share, compared with $943,800, or $3.15 a share, in 1939.

NEW YORK PORT CHARGES UNFAIR RATES CUT TRADE

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—A charge that preferential rates accorded by railroads to other ports have "severely damaged" the grain transportation business of the port of New York has benn filed with the Interstate Commerce commission by the Port of New York authority.

Several weeks ago hearings were held on the authority's petition to compel railroads to equalize rates from lake ports to New York and competing ports. An estimated annual revenue of $3,000,000 came to the authority from the grain business, it was said, and 80 per cent of it has been lost.

Baltimore and Philadelphia, the authority held, enjoy a preferential rate over New York that amounts to 3/10 cent a bushel in transportation rate and 4/10 cent a bushel in storage charges on grain held 20 days or more, making a total disadvantage to the port of New York of 7/10 cent per bushel.

ADVISES HOLDING ADVERTISING AT NORMAL LEVELS

Business men were advised yesterday to maintain their normal advertising appropriations directed toward regular commercial customers, even tho their plants may be kept busy on armanent orders. The advice was offered by George S. May, Chicago business engineer and chairman of the board of the George S. May Business Foundation.

He declared that businesses which "make the mistake" of limiting advertising during the world war discovered that, with the return of peace, "the public had forgotten their products and competitors had captured their markets."

FAMILY HEAD.

I paid my divorced wife $850 in allmony last year and $520 each for the support of our two children who live with her. What exemption or credit can I take for these payments in my income tax return?—W. O.

Answer: A divorced person ordinarily is allowed the exemption of $800 for a single person. However, if the husband provides full support for the divorced wife and children, who live together in a separate home, he might be permitted to take the $2,000 exemption as the head of a family, if he can demonstrate that he visits the family and exercises full family control. This credit would not be allowed by the internal revenue department without appeal.

He would also be permitted to take a credit for dependents of $400 for each child under 18 years or unable to work, if he furnishes more than one-half of their support. He could not deduct the alimony payments, however.

CHASE IN MOVIES.

I have read that the Chase National bank has an interest in the motion picture industry. What is the nature of this investment?—E. W.

Answer: The Chase National bank owns 221,157 shares of common and 671,915 shares of preferred stock of the Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation; 1,044,000 common shares of the National Theaters corporation and 181,205 capital shares of the General Theaters Equipment corporation. The securities were obtained by the bank as the result of defaults by the companies on their bank loans.

NYLON STOCKINGS.

Do you have any figures on how many nylon stockings were made last year?—B. F.

Answer: E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. reported recently that in 1940, the first year that nylon was marketed, 35 million pairs of nylon stockings were manufactured. Output of the stockings is now at the rate of 68 million pairs a year.

NOT CALLABLE.

When is the earliest date that the federal treasury can call for redemption my 2½ per cent treasury bonds of 1948?—R. P.

Answer: Treasury 2½ per cent bonds due Sept. 15, 1948, are noncallable, which means they cannot be redeemed until their maturity.

VOTING RIGHTS.

Does the preference stock of the Thompson-Starrett company have voting rights?—T. W.

Answer: The stock has full voting rights, equal share for share to those of the common stock of the company.

Ghost Towns Come to Life in Rearmaments Program

Ghost towns and industrial plants that have been almost forgotten for many years are coming into their own and playing an important part in the rearmament program, the magazine Steel said yesterday. Plants that have been idle for years, gathering tax burdens and bills for watch service, are in great demand, either as additional production facilities or for dismantling and removal to other cities where they are reërected.

Imports of Industrial Diamonds Set Record

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—The United States armament program stepped up imports of industrial diamonds to an all-time high of 1,676 pounds during 1940, statistics released by the industry disclosed today. The stones, useful in cutting precision tools and as a grinding substance, were valued at $10,885,664. The increase was more than 150 per cent.

To the Holders of the $19,200,000. Principal Amount of Publicly Held NEW YORK, WESTCHESTER & BOSTON RAILWAY COMPANY First Mortgage 4½% Gold Bonds, due July 1, 1946:

LABOR SCARCITY IS PREDICTED IN NEW SURVEY

Increased Spending for Arms Is Cause.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP).—The 20th Century fund today forecast a labor shortage would arise because of additional federal armament appropriations. The fund is a research organization founded by Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant.

A research staff headed by Dr. Lloyd G. Reynolds of the Johns Hopkins university previously had estimated present labor reserves were adequate under the original 16 billion dollar armaments program. Since then President Roosevelt has asked for additional arms appropriations of almost 11 billion dollars, plus an undefined amount for shipment of war materials to some belligerents.

Larger Increase Likely.

Basing its calculations on an estimate by the national industrial conference board that unemployment totaled 7,217,000 workers in November, 1940, the fund put the number of idle workers available for employment in the near future close to 4,000,000. This figure was reached after deducting workers estimated to be on government projects, those on temporary layoff, and those likely to be affected by the draft.

"On the basis of 1940 appropriations," said the fund, "it seemed reasonable to predict an increase in employment of around 6,000,000 between the fall of 1940 and the fall of 1942. Under the expanded program, one can say merely that—barring an early peace—the increase will be larger than this."

OUTPUT SETS RECORD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Secretary Jesse Jones said today that the total output of United States industries in 1940 was the largest in history.

The index of industrial production issued by the Federal Reserve board, Jones said, gave the average at 122 for the year [with 1935-1939 equaling 100]. This, said Jones, was 8 per cent higher than 1937 and 11 per cent higher than 1929, "regarded thruout the last decade as the high water mark of business activity in the United States."

Machine tool output set a record during the year, Jones said, attaining an index figure of 135. He estimated that production in that line in 1940 was 50 per cent higher than in 1937 and "as much as 75 per cent higher than in 1939."

BIG CELLOPHANE PLANT WILL BE OPENED MARCH 3

The fourth cellophane plant erected in the United States since 1924 will begin operations at Clinton, Ia., on March 3 with a force of 200 workmen, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. announced yesterday. An additional 300, almost all midwesterners, will be trained and put to work before next August, the announcement said.

Food industries of the middle west will receive the first shipments of transparent film for wrapping and other purposes and are expected to consume the largest share of the Clinton output. Officials emphasized the plant is a commercial operation exclusively and is incapable of being converted to "any other purposes."

Revenue from Liquor Taxes Is 15 Times That of 1915

Revenue from alcoholic beverage taxes is 15 times that before prohibition, altho the consumption of such beverages is below the preprohibition level, a survey by the federation of tax administrators showed yesterday. The increase in revenues since prohibition to $320,000,000 in 1940 as compared with $21,000,000 in 1915 came from special sales taxes on alcohol beverages which were not levied before prohibition.

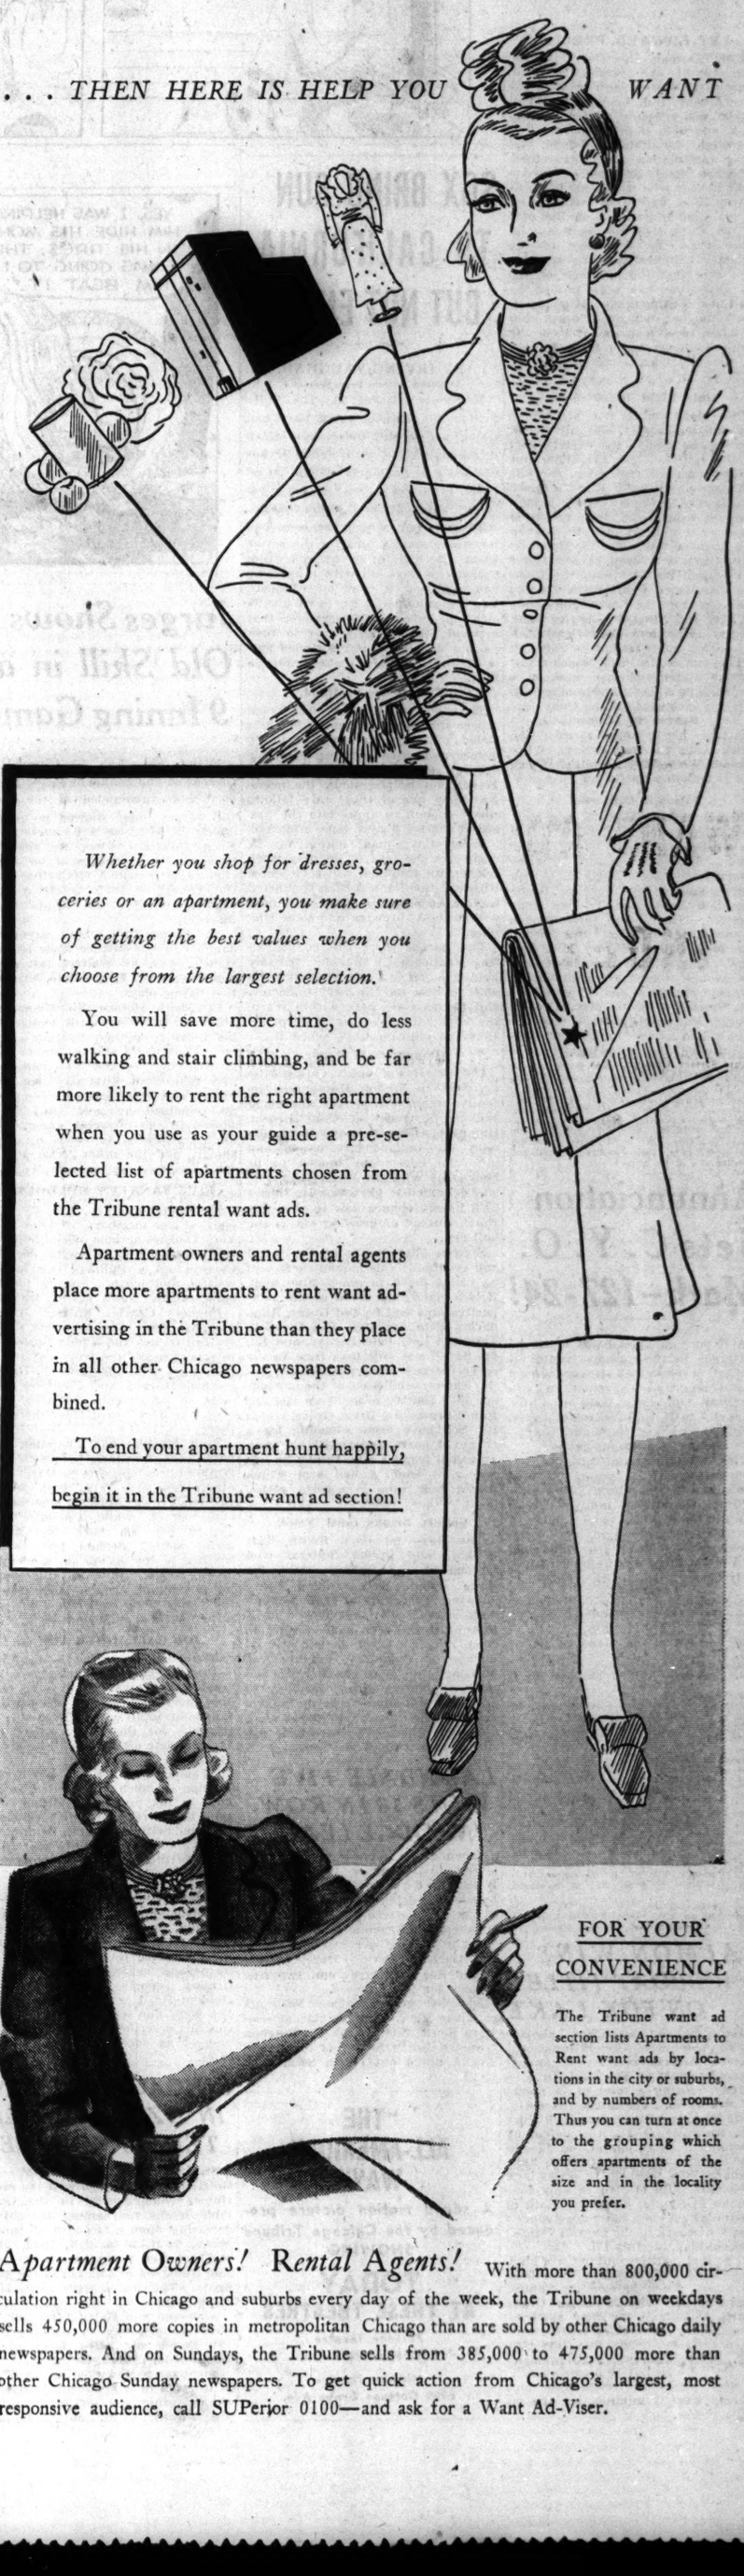
Apartment Hunting?

. . . THEN HERE IS HELP YOU WANT



Whether you shop for dresses, groceries or an apartment, you make sure of getting the best values when you choose from the largest selection.

You will save more time, do less walking and stair climbing, and be far more likely to rent the right apartment when you use as your guide a pre-selected list of apartments chosen from the Tribune rental want ads.

Apartment owners and rental agents place more apartments to rent want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

To end your apartment hunt happily, begin it in the Tribune want ad section!

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE

The Tribune want ad section lists Apartments to Rent want ads by locations in the city or suburbs, and by numbers of rooms. Thus you can turn at once to the grouping which offers apartments of the size and in the locality you prefer.

Apartment Owners! Rental Agents! With more than 800,000 circulation right in Chicago and suburbs every day of the week, the Tribune on weekdays sells 450,000 more copies in metropolitan Chicago than are sold by other Chicago daily newspapers. And on Sundays, the Tribune sells from 385,000 to 475,000 more than other Chicago Sunday newspapers. To get quick action from Chicago's largest, most responsive audience, call SUPerior 0100—and ask for a Want Ad-Viser.

ASTRONOMICAL SUM? U. S. SPENDING SHOWS WHAT IT REALLY IS

President Roosevelt in his budget message to congress estimated that federal expenditures during the 1941-'42 fiscal year will reach a total of 17 billion smackers.

In figures that amount of money looks like this—$17,000,000,000. But the Guaranty Trust company of New York visualizes the 17 billions—to give people an idea of the cost of rearmament—as follows:

"If a printing press had begun turning out dollar bills at the rate of one a second when Columbus first landed in the new world and had continued to produce at the same rate ever since the amount would still be 3 billion dollars short of the sum required to pay the estimated expenses of the government for the next fiscal year.

"If 17 billion dollar bills were laid end to end they would stretch for a distance of 1,643,387 miles, or 66 times around the earth at the equator."

Billion Dollars of Bonds to Be Retired in March

New York, Feb. 23 [Special].—Approximately 1 billion dollars of outstanding bonds, including United States government issues, have been called for payment in March.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Mrs. Porter Lasley, wife of Leitchfield, Ky., farmer, with quadruplets born to her yesterday. The three girls and a boy are (left to right): John, Mildred, Martine, and Beulah. They were born within four hours.

(Story on page 1.)
